Barry Launches Campaign, Takes Control of GOP

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Launching his presidential campaign with the declaration that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice," Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater moved today to cement his control of the Republican party.

Goldwater told cheering, stamping, horn-blowing convention delegates as he accepted the GOP nomination in the Cow Palace Thursday night that "it is the cause of Republicanism to ensure that power remains in the hands of the people."

"The Good Lord raised up this mighty republic to be a home of the brave and to flourish as the land of the free—not to stagnate in the swamp of collectivism—not to cringe before the bullying of communism," he declared.

Cheered throughout his speech he got his biggest hand from delegates who had been warned about the threat of extremist elements to their party when he said: "Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. Moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Clad in a dark business suit and wearing, as usual, his horn-rimmed glasses, Goldwater marched triumphantly into the glare on the podium after his unanimously elected running mate Rep. William E. Miller of New York, had accepted the vice presidential nomination. Balloons cascaded down on the Arizona senator as pandemonium broke loose.

Miller, noted as a rough-and-tumble campaigner, played down his role with a short speech in which he said he was happy to be standing in the campaign at the side of "a man who more than any other I have ever known in American life speaks the truth to the people, courageously stands for principle, and devotes himself completely to keeping America free."

The formalities having been observed and the 28th Republican Convention over, Goldwater turned his attention to taking over the command of the GOP National Committee.

The presidential candidate acted in advance to pick Dean Burch, second man in his campaign command, to replace Miller as head of the committee. He has said he wants to bring the committee actively into the campaign and to channel any future patronage through it.

The triumph of Goldwater's conservatism left some wounds unhealed among some of those who had opposed his nomination. Michigan Gov. George W. Romney said that unless the nominee demonstrates that he is willing to go beyond the platform in some vital areas, such as civil rights, "I will go home and campaign for Michigan Republicans."

White House Report Says Nation's Economy Glowing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rosy outlook for the nation's economy was projected today from facts and figures reported from the White House, and President Johnson hailed "our strong and balanced economic expansion."

He commented after the Commerce Department reported Thursday a $10 billion rise in the annual rate of the gross national product for the April-June quarter over that for the preceding three months.

That came only a few hours after Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz visited the White House to report to Johnson that total non-farm employment and weekly factory earnings reached record high levels during June.

The announcements broke a self-imposed silence at the White House during most of the Republican national convention and still contained no direct reference to Republican charges of "fiscal irresponsibility" against the Democrats.

"All I'm reporting is the facts. You interpret them," Wirtz told newsmen.

The Commerce Department made its own announcement of a record $618.5 billion yearly rate for the gross national product—the sum of all goods and services, government and private.

But Johnson was primed with a statement that "we fully expect the gains in the second half of the year to be even greater than the first."

It was the 14th straight quarter, dating back to early 1961 in which the figure has set a new high, and the figure was $100 billion higher than that during the 1960 recession.

Consumer expenditures accounted for $6 billion of the quarter's increase, a smaller percentage than the $8.7 billion added by consumers to the first quarter's $9.8 billion advance.

The quarterly gain bore out predictions made by administration economists in January. They forecast then a 1964 total of $623 billion. The figure last year was $583.9 billion.

Wirtz said non-farm employment hit a record high of 59.1 million in June, an increase of nearly 2 million from May, and record weekly overtime work of 3.2 hours boosted earnings to $103.50 per week, another new high.

Although unemployment rose to 5.3 per cent of the labor force in June, compared with 5.1 per cent in May, the Labor Department said this was considerably better than the 5.7 figure of June 1963.

Once Around Roundtown

PREMIUM BOOKS for the Pickaway County Fair are ready for distribution, Bill Cook, fair manager, announced today.

The books are available at several business places in the downtown area as well as the Coliseum at the Fairgrounds. Cook said agriculture society memberships are also available at his office and can be purchased anytime before the Fair, scheduled Aug. 3-8.

DOWNTOWN merchants today were almost unanimous in their praise of yesterday's "Sidewalk Sale." Despite some rather warm weather, sidewalks were jammed from early morning until late evening.

Topless Suit Said Indecent by Nudist

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP)—One of Britain's biggest nudist clubs today denounced topless dresses and bathing suits as indecent.

Said an editorial in the monthly magazine of the Bournemouth and East Dorset nudist group:

"There is nothing indecent or provocative in the human body itself. It is the way the body is dressed—or semidressed—and used which may be indecent or immodest."

"None of our members would be seen dead in one of these outfits."

40 Persons in France Regain U.S. Citizenship

PARIS (AP)—The U.S. Embassy says 40 persons in France recovered their American citizenship last month under terms of a recent Supreme Court decision.

The decision said naturalized Americans living abroad do not lose their citizenship because of prolonged residence outside the United States. Under previous application of the law such persons were presumed to have lost or jeopardized their citizenship.

Flood Benefit Data Is Listed For This Area

Property owners and political subdivisions in Pickaway, Franklin and Ross counties will receive $91,635,898 in flood control benefits from three dams and reservoirs to be constructed by the Scioto Conservancy District, it was reported today.

This was noted in appraisal and benefits report filed with the conservancy district court by a three-man board of appraisers named Nov. 13, 1961.

Total construction cost of Alum Creek, Bellepoint and Mill Creek dams and reservoirs were listed at $47,425,359.

Benefits to Franklin County alone would total $46,281,282 to 7,318 properties. Payments by property owners would be spread over 30 years with the annual assessment being 1.7 per cent of the appraised benefit plus interest.

The report was filed with the clerk of courts in six counties to be affected by the three dams and reservoirs planned by the district—Delaware, Union and Marion where land is to be acquired; and Franklin, Pickaway and Ross Counties which will benefit from the project. Land also will be acquired in Franklin County.

Property owners in the county and others can study the report in the courthouses. It shows maps where the properties are situated.

Benefits to individual properties in Pickaway County total $214,439, and in Ross County, $13,840,321. Benefits to public corporations include: Pickaway County, $149,615; Circleville, $64,824; Ross County, $818,910, and Chillicothe, $2,760,264.

Satellite Trio Put into Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Two sentry satellites and a "pygmy" satellite rocketed into great egg-shaped orbits today in a complex triple launching that could lead to U.S. development of a foolproof system to detect illicit nuclear explosions in space.

The trio of radiation-sensing packages rode into space atop a single powerful Atlas-Agena rocket which blazed brilliantly in the early morning darkness at 3:22 a.m. (EST).

The Air Force reported 20 minutes later that the 10-story-tall booster had drilled the three satellites into separate highly elliptical orbits.

The exact path was not known immediately but early tracking information indicated the payloads were very close to the intended course ranging from 120 to 63,000 miles above the earth.

All three space messengers were flashing clear radio signals to ground stations.

It was the fourth time the United States had orbited three satellites with one rocket. The record is four in one shot set by another Atlas-Agena last year.

The pygmy satellite was injected into its pre-planned path shortly after the three satellites separated from the booster today.

Because of an intricate flight plan intended to station the twin Sentry satellites at the high point of the course, officials will not know until about 10:30 a.m. Sunday whether the launching is completely successful.

Small rockets aboard the pair are to arrest them at widely scattered points 63,000 miles up—one about 18 hours after launching, the other about 37 hours later.

The Sentries, each weighing 493 pounds, are forerunners of a network of satellites that will peer electronically more than 200 million miles into space to discover if the Soviet Union or any other nation cheats on the partial nuclear test ban treaty by exploding a rocket-borne

Quick Nuptials Are Hinted

Re-Arrest Efforts Prove Futile

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard left the Columbus Motel today where he had been staying since his release from prison less than 24 hours earlier.

With him were his fiancée, his attorney and the attorney's wife. They declined to say where they were going. Sheppard is free under federal bond, which the attorney says permits him to go anywhere in the United States.

A quickie marriage for Sheppard and his fiancée in North Carolina has been hinted.

Until early today, it had been expected that the 40-year-old former suburban Cleveland osteopath would be returned to Ohio Penitentiary. He was released Thursday on bond after serving nearly nine years on a second-degree murder conviction in the bludgeoning slaying of his wife.

Sheppard said today that he is ready to stand trial if necessary to establish his innocence.

"My attorney is telling me what to do," he said. "He's the doctor."

"As the doctor," attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston said, "I would prescribe 48 hours of quiet readjustment."

But these developments assured Sheppard of more days of freedom.

United States marshals declined to pick up Sheppard—who is staying at a plush Columbus motel—without an arrest order.

Judge Lester L. Cecil of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals declined to issue one such an order.

Cecil issued a stay order Thursday, about 24 hours after a U. S. District Court judge granted Sheppard freedom on a habeas corpus motion. But the stay came after Sheppard's release on $10,000 bond.

The Ohio Attorney General's office, which emphasized it is merely cooperating with the prosecutor in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) where the 1954 slaying occurred, said there are two possibilities:

One, Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan says he will move to a me and Judge Cecil's stay order to request Cancellation of Sheppard's bond and to direct his arrest.

Or, some judge in Cuyahoga County could order Sheppard's re-arrest under the first-degree murder indictment still outstanding there. One judge there already has declined to do so.

In either case, the attorney general's office said, the process probably would take several days. In the move to amend, there presumably would be a hearing, perhaps about the middle of next week in the U. S. Sixth District Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Meanwhile, the 40-year-old osteopath was enjoying what may be a brief respite from prison routine. Thursday night he swam in the motel pool, had meals served in his room and visited with relatives. He was reunited with a fiancée he did not know before entering prison just a few days short of nine years ago for the 1954 bludgeoning slaying of his wife, Marilyn.

The controversial murder case that attracted worldwide interest became even more bizarre in the last two days.

A federal district judge in Dayton ruled Wednesday that Sheppard had been denied constitutional rights in his trial and ordered him released from prison, setting the stage for a retrial.

Thursday, the balding one-time Cleveland suburbanite walked out of the penitentiary. About the same time a U.S. appeals court judge in Cincinnati stayed the district court order. That meant Sheppard had to return to prison at least until a hearing could be conducted on the stay order.

Soviet Reveals Space Record

U.N. Panel Gets 30-Page Document

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—For the first time the Soviet Union has given the U.N. Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space a summary of Soviet accomplishments in space research, an informed source said today.

The source said the 30-page document was "extremely interesting," and an encouraging development for the 28-nation committee. The committee will meet at U.N. headquarters Oct. 26 to draft a report for the General Assembly opening Nov. 10.

The United Nations will publish the Soviet summary after it is translated and the Russians check the translation for accuracy.

The United States and other nations on the committee previously submitted information on their space research.

The last General Assembly approved by acclamation a program to promote international cooperation in exploration of outer space, including further exploration of the solar system. It also approved the establishment of legal guidelines on space activity.

In his last appearance before the United Nations, the late President John F. Kennedy proposed that the Soviet Union join the United States in a manned expedition to the moon. President Johnson repeated the proposal after Kennedy's death. The Russians expressed interest but said they wanted more time to study the matter.

At its October meeting, the U.N. space committee will consider reports from subcommittees dealing with legal and scientific and technical aspects of outer space cooperation. They had met earlier this year in Geneva.

Bliss Future Under Study

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There appeared some uncertainty today that Ohio GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss would remain on as chairman during the upcoming battle for the presidency.

Bliss, who previously had expressed a profound disinterest in the job, wouldn't discuss that possibility with newsmen here, and that fact left observers wondering what his eventual decision would be.

There was some disappointment among the Ohio delegation that Bliss was passed over for the post of National chairman being vacated by William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee.

Bliss, until the San Francisco convention had been one of the top prospects for Miller's job.

Billy Graham Audience Sets Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Politics, football and a record crowd of 34,000 were all part of evangelist Billy Graham's seventh appearance here Thursday night.

The huge throng covered nearly every inch of the 12,000-seat baseball stadium—all over the playing field, in the pitchers' bullpens and under the stands.

The attendance was the largest of the 10-day Ohio crusade and the estimated 1,850 "inquirers" who came forward after Graham's message also set an Ohio mark.

Before his sermon, Graham told his audience that "from now until November, I plan to make no remarks that could be interpreted as political." But he commented, "Even when you preach the Gospel, some people think it's political."

Football got into the service, when Ohio State University football star Tom Barrington of Lima told of his religious faith as related to his recovery from a near-fatal industrial accident about a year ago—in time to play last fall.

In his message, Graham told the youth night crowd that God has no juvenile court. "God holds you responsible for your sins. . . . You are responsible just as any adult is responsible."

Cigarette Studies To Be Launched

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service has announced three new research projects into how cigarette smoke affects living tissue.

The studies involve areas in which the surgeon general's advisory committee on smoking and health indicated more information was needed. The committee said in a report last January that cigarette smoking was harmful to health.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said Thursday that the National Cancer Institute had awarded more than $300,000 to support these studies:

A $107,535 contract to New York University Medical Center to isolate and identify chemicals in tobacco extracts and smoke that may act as indirect cancer agents.

A $103,575 contract to Food and Drug Research Laboratories, New York, to investigate changes taking place in the windpipes of laboratory animals exposed to cigarette smoke.

A $104,446 contract to Hazleton Laboratories, Falls Church, Va., to help evaluate the relation of tobacco smoke, nickel dust and ozonized hydrocarbons to lung cancer in animals.

This comment of Eisenhower, which came on television Thursday, had a certain ambiguity.

Prisoner Impersonated

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—If there is a law against impersonating a prisoner that's the one police here will be able to file against Cletis Howland of South Shore, Ky.

Police said Howland, 47, and Walter McKenzie, 21, of South Portsmouth, Ky., were placed in Scioto County jail when they were unable to pay Municipal Court fines for intoxication.

However, a relative of McKenzie paid that man's fine and asked an officer to take McKenzie to the Grant Bridge of the Ohio River.

When officers went to the cell and asked for McKenzie, Howland quickly answered the call, was taken to the bridge and was last seen hurrying toward the Kentucky side.

McKenzie finally was released when the relative returned to the jail and the impersonation was discovered.

Japan Premier Gets New Cabinet

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Hayato Ikeda named today his sixth Cabinet since becoming head of Japan's government four years ago.

He named Etsusaburo Shima, 66, a newcomer in the field of diplomacy, to replace Masayoshi Ohira as foreign minister.

Ikeda's fifth Cabinet resigned earlier today in accordance with custom following his reelection as president of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party. His re-election a week ago assured him another two years as premier.

The Cabinet reshuffle was not expected to bring any major changes in Japan's foreign or domestic policy.

President Harding's Illegitimate Child Is California Housewife

GLENDALF, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale housewife and mother of three has yielded up a secret kept for more than 20 years: She is the illegitimate daughter of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States.

Mrs. Henry E. Blaessing 46, speaking in a tired voice, said she is the late president's daughter by a mistress, Nan Britton.

"I've talked to so many reporters today," she said, "I haven't even had a chance to talk to my sons to find out what they think of all this."

News stories about recently discovered love letters from Harding to another mistress, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, referred to Nan Britton and to the "love child" Miss Britton said she bore out of wedlock.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner found Mrs. Blaessing living in this suburban community.

Miss Britton, now 67, lives in Evanston, Ill.

"We are very close," said Mrs. Blaessing. "She's a wonderful person."

Mrs. Blaessing, listed as Elizabeth Ann Christian on her birth certificate, was born Oct. 22, 1919, in Asbury Park, N.J. Harding, then a U.S. Senator, was 53, married childless and just one year away from the presidency.

In 1921 Elizabeth Ann was adopted in Chicago by her mother's sister, Elizabeth, and her husband, Scott Willits. They also live in Glendale now.

"I was the most logical one to adopt her," says Mrs. Willits. "I had no children, and that was why we could keep her in the family. She thought we were her parents until her mother took her back when she was seven."

"My mother told me when I was very young that President Harding was my father. He died in 1923. I don't remember ever seeing him. I believe, though, that my mother sent him photographs of me and my mother told me that he sometimes inquired about me."

Mrs. Blaessing says knowledge of who her father was created no problems for her.

"I had a normal childhood," she says, "but then, I didn't go around telling people about it."

She continued:

"I do recall that when she

(her mother) spoke of President Harding she always talked of him in glowing terms. Mother wasn't bitter. All through the years she never spoke badly of him. It was all love, adoration and affection. She told me she loved him very much. She still does."

Mrs. Blaessing was married on Sept. 18, 1938, in Chicago.

The Blaessings moved to California at the end of World War II and settled in Glendale three and a half years ago. Blaessing is manager of an office building. They have three sons, 17, 13 and 10.

Until Thursday, Mrs. Blaessing says, only her closest friends and a few members of the family have known of her parentage. Even her sons hadn't know.

Judge Lester L. Cecil of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals declined to issue one such order.

Cecil issued a stay order Thursday, about 24 hours after a U. S. District Court judge granted Sheppard freedom on a habeas corpus motion. But the stay came after Sheppard's release on $10,000 bond.

The Ohio Attorney General's office, which emphasized it is merely cooperating with the prosecutor in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) where the 1954 slaying occurred, said there are two possibilities:

One, Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan says he will move to amend Judge Cecil's stay order to request cancellation of Sheppard's bond and to direct his arrest.

Or, some judge in Cuyahoga County could order Sheppard's re-arrest under the first-degree murder indictment still outstanding there. One judge there already has declined to do so.

In either case, the attorney general's office said, the process probably would take several days. In the move to amend, there presumably would be a hearing, perhaps about the middle of next week in the U. S. Sixth District Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Meanwhile, the 40-year-old osteopath was enjoying what may be a brief respite from prison routine Thursday night. He swam in the motel pool, had meals served in his room and visited with relatives. He was reunited with a fiancée he did not know before entering prison just a few days short of nine years ago for the 1954 bludgeoning slaying of his wife, Marilyn.

The controversial murder case that attracted worldwide interest became even more bizarre in the last two days.

A federal district judge in Dayton ruled Wednesday that Sheppard had been denied constitutional rights in his trial and ordered him released from prison, setting the stage for a retrial.

Thursday, the balding one-time Cleveland suburbanite walked out of the penitentiary. About the same time a U.S. appeals court judge in Cincinnati stayed the district court order. That meant Sheppard had to return to prison at least until a hearing could be conducted on the stay order.

Soviet Reveals Space Record

U.N. Panel Gets 30-Page Document

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—For the first time the Soviet Union has given the U.N. Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space a summary of Soviet accomplishments in space research, an informed source said today.

The source said the 30-page document was "extremely interesting," and an encouraging development for the 28-nation committee. The committee will meet at U.N. headquarters Oct. 26 to draft a report for the General Assembly opening Nov. 10.

The United Nations will publish the Soviet summary after it is translated and the Russians check the translation for accuracy.

The United States and other nations on the committee previously submitted information on their space research.

The last General Assembly approved by acclamation a program to promote international cooperation in exploration of outer space, including further exploration of the solar system. It also approved the establishment of legal guidelines on space activity.

In his last appearance before the United Nations, the late President John F. Kennedy proposed that the Soviet Union join the United States in a manned expedition to the moon. President Johnson repeated the proposal after Kennedy's death. The Russians expressed interest but said they wanted more time to study the matter.

At its October meeting, the U.N. space committee will consider reports from subcommittees dealing with legal and scientific and technical aspects of outer space cooperation. They had met earlier this year in Geneva.

Ike To Back Goldwater, But Ticket Wasn't Choice

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he will support the Goldwater - Miller Republican ticket although "it was not my personal choice."

This comment of Eisenhower, which came on television Thursday, had a certain ambiguity.

Prisoner Impersonated

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—If there is a law against impersonating a prisoner that's the one police here will be able to file against Cletis Howland of South Shore, Ky.

Police said Howland, 47, and Walter McKenzie, 21, of South Portsmouth, Ky., were placed in Scioto County jail when they were unable to pay Municipal Court fines for intoxication.

However, a relative of McKenzie paid that man's fine and asked an officer to take McKenzie to the Grant Bridge of the Ohio River.

When officers went to the cell and asked for McKenzie, Howland quickly answered the call, was taken to the bridge and was last seen hurrying toward the Kentucky side.

McKenzie finally was released when the relative returned to the jail and the impersonation was discovered.

Japan Premier Gets New Cabinet

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Hayato Ikeda named today his sixth Cabinet since becoming head of Japan's government four years ago.

He named Etsusaburo Shina, 66, a newcomer in the field of diplomacy, to replace Masayoshi Ohira as foreign minister.

Ikeda's fifth Cabinet resigned earlier today in accordance with custom following his re-election as president of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party. His re-election a week ago assured him another two years as premier.

The Cabinet reshuffle was not expected to bring any major changes in Japan's foreign or domestic policy.

PREMIUM BOOKS for the Pickaway County Fair are ready for distribution, Bill Cook, fair manager, announced today.

The books are available at several business places in the downtown area as well as the Coliseum at the Fairgrounds. Cook said agriculture society memberships are also available at his office and can be purchased anytime before the Fair, scheduled Aug. 3-8.

DOWNTOWN merchants today were almost unanimous in their praise of yesterday's "Sidewalk Sale." Despite some rather warm weather, sidewalks were jammed from early morning until late evening.

Topless Suit Said Indecent by Nudist

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP)—One of Britain's biggest nudist clubs today denounced topless dresses and bathing suits as indecent.

Said an editorial in the monthly magazine of the Bournemouth and East Dorset nudist group:

"There is nothing indecent or provocative in the human body itself. It is the way the body is dressed—or semidressed—and used which may be indecent or immodest."

"None of our members would be seen dead in one of these outfits."

President Harding's Illegitimate Child Is California Housewife

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale housewife and mother of three has yielded up a secret kept for more than 20 years: She is the illegitimate daughter of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States.

Mrs. Henry E. Blaessing 46, speaking in a tired voice, said she is the late president's daughter by a mistress, Nan Britton.

"I've talked to so many reporters today," she said, "I haven't even had a chance to talk to my sons to find out what they think of all this."

News stories about recently discovered love letters from Harding to another mistress, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, referred to Nan Britton and to the "love child" Miss Britton said she bore out of wedlock.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner found Mrs. Blaessing living in this suburban community. Miss Britton, now 67, lives in Evanston, Ill.

"We are very close," said Mrs. Blaessing. "She's a wonderful person."

Mrs. Blaessing, listed as Elizabeth Ann Christian on her birth certificate, was born Oct. 22, 1919, in Asbury Park, N.J. Harding, then a U.S. senator was 53, married childless and just one year away from the presidency.

In 1921 Elizabeth Ann was adopted in Chicago by her mother's sister, Elizabeth, and her husband, Scott Willits. They also live in Glendale now.

"I was the most logical one to adopt her," says Mrs. Willits. "I had no children, and that was what we could keep her in the family. She thought we were her parents until her mother took her back when she was seven."

"My mother told me when I was very young that President Harding was my father. He died in 1923. I don't remember ever seeing him. I believe, though, that my mother sent him photographs of me and my mother told me that he sometimes inquired about me."

Mrs. Blaessing says knowledge of who her father was created no problems for her.

She continued:

"I do recall that when she

(her mother) spoke of President Harding she always talked of him in glowing terms. Mother wasn't bitter. All through the years she never spoke badly of him. It was all love, adoration and affection. She told me she loved him very much. She still does."

Mrs. Blaessing was married on Sept. 18, 1938, in Chicago.

The Blaessings moved to California at the end of World War II and settled in Glendale three and a half years ago. Blaessing is manager of an office building. They have three sons, 17, 13 and 10.

Until Thursday, Mrs. Blaessing says, only her closest friends and a few members of the family have known of her parentage. Even her sons hadn't know.

Bliss Future Under Study

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There appeared some uncertainty today that Ohio GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss would remain on as chairman during the upcoming battle for the presidency.

Bliss, who previously had expressed a profound disinterest in the job, wouldn't discuss that possibility with newsmen here, and that fact left observers wondering what his eventual decision would be.

There was some disappointment among the Ohio delegation that Bliss was passed over for the post of National chairman vacated by William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee.

Bliss, until the San Francisco convention had been one of the top prospects for Miller's job.

Billy Graham Audience Sets Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Politics, football and a record crowd of 34,000 were all part of evangelist Billy Graham's seventh appearance here Thursday night.

The huge throng covered nearly every inch of the 12,000-seat baseball stadium—all over the playing field, in the pitchers' bullpens and under the stands.

The attendance was the largest of the 10-day Ohio crusade and the estimated 1,850 "inquirers" who came forward after Graham's message also set an Ohio mark.

Before his sermon, Graham told his audience that "from now until November, I plan to make no remarks that could be interpreted as political." But he commented, "Even when you preach the Gospel, some people think it's political."

Football got into the service, when Ohio State University football star Tom Barrington of Lima told of his religious faith as related to his recovery from a near-fatal industrial accident about a year ago—in time to play last fall.

In his message, Graham told the youth night crowd that God has no juvenile court. "God holds you responsible for your sins. . . . You are responsible just as any adult is responsible."

Cigarette Studies To Be Launched

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service has announced three new research projects into how cigarette smoke affects living tissue.

The studies involve areas in which the surgeon general's advisory committee on smoking and health indicated more information was needed. The committee said in a report last January that cigarette smoking was harmful to health.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said Thursday that the National Cancer Institute had awarded more than $300,000 to support these studies:

A $107,535 contract to New York University Medical Center to isolate and identify chemicals in tobacco extracts and smoke that may act as indirect cancer agents.

A $103,575 contract to Food and Drug Research Laboratories, New York, to investigate changes taking place in the windpipes of laboratory animals exposed to cigarette smoke.

A $104,446 contract to Hazleton Laboratories, Falls Church, Va., to help evaluate the relation of tobacco smoke, nickel dust and ozonized hydrocarbons to lung cancer in animals.

shoppers. . . Most of them also commented on the friendly atmosphere that held sway during the carnival-like event.

POLICE Chief Robert Temple was a little on the tired side today. . . He spent most of his time directing traffic in the vicinity of Court and Main during daylight hours, then was back on duty last night for the gay square dance. . . Despite some sore feet, he still had good enough spirits to treat several teen-age boys to some ice-cold refreshments at a nearby stand.

A TIP to next year's "Sidewalk Sale" patrons: Look for those "hidden bargains".

ONE EXAMPLE of yesterday's success comes from Ward Skinner of Ward's Market. . .

Skinner had advertised new potatoes as one of his specials for the sale. . . He thought he had ordered "a little heavy" (1 1/2 tons). . . But at 12:20 p. m. the last 10-pound bag was sold. . .

Another of his specials, bread, was cleared from the store before noon and a second load was brought in. . . Skinner said his total receipts for yesterday "more than tripled a regular Thursday's business."

A HUGE CROWD was on hand for the square dance that climaxed the "Sidewalk Sale" festivities yesterday evening. The dance broke up about 9:30 p. m. and the section of S. Court St., between Main and Franklin Sts., was re-opened to traffic.

Reinstatement Not Required Of Policeman

Decision To Hire Rests with Safety Director, Judge Rules

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer has ruled that Miller Fissell, Circleville safety director, is not required to reinstate Charles L. Tomlinson Jr. on the city police force.

Tomlinson, who served as a patrolman from Jan. 1, 1963 until he resigned on June 1 of the same year, filed a mandamus action against the safety director or asking that he be reinstated to his position with the police department under Civil Service status.

Tomlinson said the Civil Service Commission consented to his being reinstated to the position and had notified Fissell.

It was Tomlinson's contention that it was the duty of the safety director to reinstate him.

However Judge Ammer ruled the rights of Tomlinson to be reinstated following resignation were discretionary with the director of public safety and could not be controlled by a writ of mandamus.

Red Vietnamese Gunfire Kills GI

SAIGON Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Army enlisted man was killed by Viet Cong fire shortly before dawn today as government forces launched an operation against guerrillas in the Mekong River delta.

The American died near the provincial capital of Can Tho, 80 miles southwest of Saigon.

The death brought to 159 the number of U.S. servicemen killed in combat in Viet Nam since December 1961.

Earlier today a U.S. spokesman reported that five U.S. Navy Seabees were wounded when guerrillas ambushed their station wagon Thursday near the southern tip of Viet Nam.

The spokesman said four of the men received only minor wounds and the fifth was brought to a Saigon hospital but his condition was not serious.

MILAN, Italy (AP)—The trial of 91 persons charged with separatist terrorism in the Alto Adige area — South Tyrol — of northern Italy ended Thursday night with the conviction of 71 and the acquittal of 20.

The eight-month trial followed a summer of violence in 1961 blamed on German-speaking residents of the former Austrian area seeking greater autonomy. Italy won the area after World War I, but an Austrian nationalist movement has continued.

Those convicted were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 3 years to 23 years and 10 months.

Boy Scouts Open Powwow

Sales, Swapping Start Immediately

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The Boy Scout is a swapper.

He'll give almost anything to get almost anything. And some stuff he sells for a profit.

Like the deer hides 15-year-old Skipper Netherly of Junction, Tex., brought along, plus a number of Mexican knives.

"I want $10 for the hides," he said "and I'll take $5 for the knives." He hoped to have takers near the end of the week-long sixth national jamboree that started officially today on the green hills and valleys of historic Valley Forge.

It began when an aerial bomb exploded high in the sky to signal the raising of 1,800 flags as the 52,000 participating scouts and leaders stood at attention. Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief of the nation's 5 1/2 million scouts, looked over the city of 30,000 tents and said, "This represents what's good about America."

The trading tents were jammed with hundreds of boys from every state in the nation, and from many of the 44 foreign countries. They sat cross-legged on the grass floor or crowded around wooden tables.

They had cigar boxes, shoe boxes, paper bags, stuffed with neckerchiefs, shoulder patches, lapel patches, stuffed turtles, rattlesnake rattlers, oyster shells, rocks and metal rings.

The scouts have been rolling in here since Tuesday. With them came 60 carloads of baggage.

Everything reached its destination, a spokesman said, except one pair of tweezers.

Space Agency Eyes Aids To Moonmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Space Agency says it is looking into two projects to assist astronauts on the moon: A mobile laboratory and a "lunar hopper" for short flights.

These are among 32 projects being studied for possible use after Apollo spacecraft land the first astronauts on the moon.

Parallel studies of the mobile moon laboratory, or Molab, have been ordered from the Boeing Co., Seattle, and the Bendix Corp., Ann Arbor, Mich., under contracts of $800,000 each.

The Molab would permit the men to work in shirtsleeves and would have an air-locked exit so moon explorers could go out in space suits and gather soil and rock samples. It would be landed on the moon by a modified version of the lunar excursion module, or Lem, a section of the Apollo which will be used to carry two astronauts from the mother ship to the moon surface.

Bell Aerosystems Co., Buffalo, N.Y., has a $19,333 contract to study the lunar hopper. In addition to short flights on the moon it could be used as an emergency vehicle to get back to the Lem if the Molab malfunctions.

Negro Youth's Death Probed

New York Cop Fires on Boy, 15

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy promises a "thorough and impartial investigation" of the fatal shooting of a Negro youth by an off-duty white police lieutenant who said the youth came at him with a knife.

The killing Thursday in a Manhattan street near a public school touched off violence among 300 teen-agers, mostly Negro and 75 steel-helmeted police.

"Come on, shoot another Nigger," shouted one of several weeping Negro girls.

The crowd taunted police and hurled school books, bottles, cans and stones. Patrolman Edward Seabrook, 35, the only Negro policeman there, was hit on the head by a can and was taken to a hospital.

The police and the crowd surged back and forth in East 76th street for about an hour before the crowd was broken up.

The dead youth was 15-year-old James Powell, one of three Negroes Police Lt. Thomas Gilligan said he found chasing a building superintendent into an apartment building.

Police said the trouble began when the white building superintendent, cleaning the sidewalk with a hose, sprayed the three Negro youths, who then chased him into his building.

They said the three youths and the superintendent engaged in a heated argument and there reportedly were racial slurs.

Gilligan showed his badge, police said, and ordered the boys to stop banging garbage cans lids and move on.

Police Inspector Joseph Coyle said the lieutenant "fired in defense of himself" when Powell came at Gilligan with a pocket knife and failed to heed a warning to stop. Coyle said the knife was found in the gutter.

One-Car Mishap Injures 2 Women

Two Columbus women were injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding went out of control on a curve near Harrisburg on Route 62.

Driver of the car, Elizabeth Eacon, 47, sustained a fractured right ankle and facial fractures. Her passenger, Oleta L. Simmerman, received a severe cut on the neck. Both were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

According to investigating officers of the Sheriff's Department and State Highway Patrol, the vehicle left the road on the right side, came back across the highway through a ditch and crashed into a farm fence. The mishap occurred at 1:03 p. m. No citations were issued.

POLICE Chief Robert Temple was a little on the tired side today. . . He spent most of his time directing traffic in the vicinity of Court and Main during daylight hours, then was back on duty last night for the gay square dance. . . Despite some sore feet, he still had good enough spirits to treat several teen-age boys to some ice-cold refreshments at a nearby stand.

A TIP to next year's "Sidewalk Sale" patrons: Look for those "hidden bargains."

ONE EXAMPLE of yesterday's success comes from Ward Skinner of Ward's Market. . .

Skinner had advertised new potatoes as one of his specials for the sale. . . He thought he had ordered "a little heavy" (1½ tons). . . But at 12:20 p. m. the last 10-pound bag was sold. . .

Another of his specials, bread, was cleared from the store before noon and a second load was brought in. . . Skinner said his total receipts for yesterday "more than tripled a regular Thursday's business."

A HUGE CROWD was on hand for the square dance that climaxed the "Sidewalk Sale" festivities yesterday evening. The dance broke up about 9:30 p. m. and the section of S. Court St., between Main and Franklin Sts., was re-opened to traffic.

Reinstatement Not Required Of Policeman

Decision To Hire Rests with Safety Director, Judge Rules

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer has ruled that Miller Fissell, Circleville safety director, is not required to reinstate Charles L. Tomlinson Jr. on the city police force.

Tomlinson, who served as a patrolman from Jan. 1, 1963 until he resigned on June 1 of the same year, filed a mandamus action against the safety director or asking that he be reinstated to his position with the police department under Civil Service status.

Tomlinson said the Civil Service Commission consented to his being reinstated to the position and had notified Fissell.

It was Tomlinson's contention that it was the duty of the safety director to reinstate him.

However Judge Ammer ruled the rights of Tomlinson to be reinstated following resignation were discretionary with the director of public safety and could not be controlled by a writ of mandamus.

Boy Scouts Open Powwow

Sales, Swapping Start Immediately

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The Boy Scout is a swapper. He'll give almost anything to get almost anything. And some stuff he sells for a profit.

Like the deer hides 15-year-old Skipper Netherly of Junction, Tex., brought along, plus a number of Mexican knives.

"I want $10 for the hides," he said "and I'll take $5 for the knives." He hoped to have takers near the end of the week-long sixth national jamboree that started officially today on the green hills and valleys of historic Valley Forge.

It began when an aerial bomb exploded high in the sky to signal the raising of 1,800 flags as the 52,000 participating scouts and leaders stood at attention.

Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief of the nation's 5½ million scouts, looked over the city of 30,000 tents and said, "This represents what's good about America."

The trading tents were jammed with hundreds of boys from every state in the nation, and from many of the 44 foreign countries. They sat cross-legged on the grass floor or crowded around wooden tables.

They had cigar boxes, shoe boxes, paper bags, stuffed with neckerchiefs, shoulder patches, lapel patches, stuffed turtles, rattlesnake rattlers, oyster shells, rocks and metal rings.

The scouts have been rolling in here since Tuesday. With them came 60 carloads of baggage.

Everything reached its destination, a spokesman said, except one pair of tweezers.

Negro Youth's Death Probed

New York Cop Fires on Boy, 15

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy promises a "thorough and impartial investigation" of the fatal shooting of a Negro youth by an off-duty white police lieutenant who said the youth came at him with a knife.

The killing Thursday in a Manhattan street near a public school touched off violence among 300 teen-agers, mostly Negro and 75 steel-helmeted police.

"Come on, shoot another Nigger," shouted one of several weeping Negro girls.

The crowd taunted police and hurled school books, bottles, cans and stones. Patrolman Edward Seabrook, 35, the only Negro policeman there, was hit on the head by a can and was taken to a hospital.

The police and the crowd surged back and forth in East 76th street for about an hour before the crowd was broken up.

The dead youth was 15-year-old James Powell, one of three Negroes Police Lt. Thomas Gilligan said he found chasing a building superintendent into an apartment building.

Police said the trouble began when the white building superintendent, cleaning the sidewalk with a hose, sprayed the three Negro youths, who then chased him into his building.

They said the three youths and the superintendent engaged in a heated argument and there reportedly were racial slurs.

Gilligan showed his badge, police said, and ordered the boys to stop banging garbage can lids and move on.

Police Inspector Joseph Coyle said the lieutenant "fired in defense of himself" when Powell came at Gilligan with a pocket knife and failed to heed a warning to stop. Coyle said the knife was found in the gutter.

According to investigating officers of the Sheriff's Department and State Highway Patrol, the vehicle left the road on the right side, came back across the highway through a ditch and crashed into a farm fence.

The mishap occurred at 1:05 p. m. No citations were issued.

God Delivers His People

HOW GOD REDEEMED HIS ENSLAVED PEOPLE FROM THEIR ENEMIES

Scripture—Exodus 5:1-15:21.

By R. H. Ramsey

NO EVENT of Israel's history left as deep an impression on later generations as the event assigned to today's lesson. For the first time, the opposition between the children of God and the children of disobedience—represented by Egypt—is brought into broad daylight.

The story begins in Exodus

5, with Moses' first interview with the pharaoh. The request was a simple one, "Let my people go." Pharaoh's reply sums up all the opposition of God's purposes down through the ages. Moses' request was turned down and the hardships of the Israelites increased, causing great resentment toward Moses among them.

As on every occasion when trouble arose, Moses resorted to prayer. In answer, God gives His appointed leader further reassurance of His presence and

His determination to deliver the Israelites, despite all opposition.

Through Moses, God tells the Israelites they are to be freed appalling—hail, locusts and darkness.

After each plague is relieved, pharaoh's heart is again hardened toward the Israelites. It reads as a sad story of suffering and distress, but it seems no other way could overcome the king's stubborn willfulness.

Exodus 11 introduces the last and most dreadful plague: the death of all the first-born—man and beast—in Egypt. The Israelites mark their doorposts and lintels with the blood of sacrificial lambs and thus their children are spared.

As the awfulness of this final judgment dawns upon pharaoh, he orders the already prepared

Israelites to leave the country immediately. All Egypt secondly the motion, even giving the Israelites silver and gold to speed their departure.

Now God, as a column of smoke by day and a pillar of fire by night, appears to reassure and guide all the scattered companies of Israelites to a common meeting-place called Succoth. There they rested and

GOLDEN TEXT

"Wherefore say unto the children of Israel, I am the Lord, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will rid you of their bondage, and I will redeem you with a stretched out arm, and with great judgments."—Exodus 6:6.

and become a separate people living in the land which He has promised to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. But, before all this happens, He says the pharaoh's heart will be hardened against them, a clear warning of hardships to come.

Then follow the famous nine plagues, termed "signs and judgments." They were all closely related to natural phenomena, their supernatural character revealed only by their appearance and disappearance at the command of Moses, and by their extent, severity and rapid succesion.

They form three distinct groups of three plagues each—the first of each group introduced by a warning to pharaoh and the last of each group inflicted without warning—and are followed by the final, dread blow, the death of all the first-born.

The first three plagues are loathsome—bloodstained waters, frogs and lice; the second three, painful—stinging flies, diseased animals and boils; the last three are based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

God Delivers His People

HOW GOD REDEEMED HIS ENSLAVED PEOPLE FROM THEIR ENEMIES

Scripture—Exodus 5:1-15:21.

By R. H. Ramsey

NO EVENT of Israel's history left as deep an impression on later generations as the event assigned to today's lesson. For the first time, the opposition between the children of God and the children of disobedience—represented by Egypt—is brought into broad daylight.

The story begins in Exodus 5, with Moses' first interview with the pharaoh. The request was a simple one, "Let my people go." Pharaoh's reply sums up all the opposition of God's purposes down through the ages. Moses' request was turned down and the hardships of the Israelites increased, causing great resentment toward Moses among them.

As on every occasion when trouble arose, Moses resorted to prayer. In answer, God gives His appointed leader further reassurance of His presence and His determination to deliver the Israelites, despite all opposition.

Through Moses, God tells the Israelites they are to be freed appalling—hail, locusts and darkness.

After each plague is relieved, pharaoh's heart is again hardened toward the Israelites. It reads as a sad story of suffering and distress, but it seems no other way could overcome the king's stubborn willfulness.

Exodus 11 introduces the last and most dreadful plague: the death of all the first-born—man and beast—in Egypt. The Israelites mark their doorposts with sacrificial lambs and thus their children are spared.

As the awfulness of this final judgment dawns upon pharaoh, he orders the already prepared Israelites to leave the country immediately. All Egypt seconds the motion, even giving the Israelites silver and gold to speed their departure.

Now God as a column of smoke by day and a pillar of fire by night, appears to reassure and guide all the scattered companies of Israelites to a common meeting-place called Succoth. There they rested and and become a separate people living in the land which He has promised to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. But, before all this happens, He says the pharaoh's heart will be hardened against them, a clear warning of hardships to come.

Then follow the famous nine plagues, termed "signs and judgments." They were all closely related to natural phenomena, their supernatural character revealed only by their appearance and disappearance at the command of Moses, and by their excess, severity and rapid succession.

They form three distinct groups of three plagues each—the first of each group introduced by a warning to pharaoh and the last of each group inflicted without warning—and are followed by the final, dread blow, the death of all the first-born.

The first three plagues are loathsome—bloodstained waters, frogs and lice; the second three, painful—stinging flies, diseased animals and boils; the last three celebrated their deliverance. Back in Egypt, Israelite homes stood empty. Tracts of land lay untilled. Building projects stood unfinished. As time blunted his sorrow, pharaoh reflected on these and sent his armies after the Israelites.

Seeing his people hemmed in by the sea, desert, rough ground and the advancing Egyptians, Moses lifted his hand and God caused the waters of the Red Sea to part so the Israelites could cross it on dry land.

When the last Israelite was safely across, the waters, by the command of God and the uplifted hand of His servant, rushed back into their regular channel, overwhelming the pursuing Egyptians.

Thus the Lord saved Israel from the Egyptians. And from this great redemptive act comes the first great song of the Bible (Exodus 15:1-21). The central theme of this Song of the Redeemed is expressed in verse 11, a truth revealing the futility of any pagan, or pagan deity, opposing the will of God.

The World Today

By James Marlow

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party under conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater now begins a presidential campaign that is unique in the 20th century and will be remembered for generations.

The four-day convention that made Goldwater the party's candidate against the Democrats' President Johnson was dull because his selection was a foregone conclusion. But the implications are profound.

This 1964 campaign will be vastly different from the kind the Republicans have waged for decades. Previous ones hardly did more than urge restraint on the expansion of federal power and programs.

But Goldwater wants to return to some aspects of the past. In his acceptance speech Thursday night he said "we must and we shall return to the proven ways—not only because they are old but because they are true."

For example: although Democrats and Republicans agreed in the Employment Act of 1946 that the government has a responsibility for the general welfare, Goldwater has said it must withdraw from social welfare programs.

He did not necessarily budge from that position Thursday night when he said, "we must assure a society here which, while never abandoning the needy or forsaking the helpless, nurtures incentives and opportunities for the creative and the productive."

And as he has said before, he would diminish both the role and the power of the federal government. He said:

"We Republicans define government's role, where needed, at many levels, preferably the one closest to the people involved: Our towns and cities, then our counties and states, and only then the national government."

"That is the ladder of liberty built by decentralized power. On it also we must have balance between branches of government on every level."

Never once in his speech did he say a word about what he thinks should be done on civil rights for Negroes although, because of his vote last month against the Johnson-sponsored civil rights bill, this will be a major and perhaps blazing issue of the campaign.

It is hard to believe this will not be one of the roughest campaigns in this century—perhaps the toughest.

Less than two weeks ago Goldwater said one of the main issues of the campaign would be the "scandal hanging over the White House."

Two nights ago, discussing Johnson's role in civil rights, Goldwater called him a faker and a phony.

Thursday night he said "our people have been given bread and circuses, spectacles and even scandals." And he talked of "corruption in our highest offices."

At this moment it is impossible to know how much appeal Goldwater will have to the masses of voters, or even to liberal Republicans, although it seems clear he will need all the Republican support he can get.

If he loses, particularly if he loses badly, Republican power in this country will probably be shattered for years. If he wins, the country will have to reverse its course and take a sharp turn to the right.

Then a whole new evaluation of the government's role at home and its foreign policies would begin.

In the past, at least back to 1940, the two parties have looked pretty much like twins, except for semantic hair-splitting on issues that looked more synthetic than real.

Thus for years voters have not been given a clear choice between liberal and highly conservative parties.

They'll get that chance this year.

Healing Wounds

Next year the flames of war between Great Britain and Nazi Germany will have been extinguished two decades. Twenty years is a long time to carry a hatred.

Yet, it appears, many Britons are still intensely antagonistic toward everything German. They protest the queen's proposed state visit to the West German Federal Republic next May.

It is a protest that can only open old wounds which were slowly healing.

That generation of Britons which met the odious military might of the Third Reich head on retains a vivid recollection of the war days. Memories cannot be discarded at will. Good and bad, they remain.

But, surely, it is how they are manifested in the ensuing years which measures the compassion and strength of human beings. A new free Germany has risen from the ashes of defeat, a Germany now united with the free world in a common cause against the ugly specter of international communism. And, with it, a whole new generation which was not born when British cities burned and Europe shuddered under the might of the German war machine.

Whatever good reasons Britons might have for hating Germany, Frenchmen and Americans can share them. Yet, President de Gaulle held out the hand of friendship to the new republic, and U. S. presidents have done likewise.

Through such state visits, one-time foes buried historical antagonisms under the realistic facade of a new age of cooperation.

Barry Hits Big Time

By John Chamberlain

Barry Goldwater is about to move into the big time — and the big question is whether he is ready for it. The Liberal opposition, of course, confidently expects him to put his foot in his mouth some time between now and November. And even some of his own most fervent supporters are uneasy about him.

The worries — or hopes, if you happen to be a liberal — on this score can be exaggerated. For the fact is that Barry Goldwater has been learning as he goes along. And it must not be forgotten that he has some good tutors.

One of them is ex-senator William F. Knowland, the Oakland Publisher who directed the crucial campaign that put Goldwater over in the California primary. In earlier primaries Goldwater had been stumbling in his relations with reporters; he was letting newsmen put to him the same old dreary litany of questions about repudiating the John Birch Society, or letting field commanders use atomic weapons, or scrapping the compulsory Social Security system. The effort to explain what he had already explained a hundred times over kept Goldwater from ever going on the offensive. Bill Knowland fixed that by telling him to make his own news by raising new issues before the stereotyped litany began. By the time the California campaign was over, the lesson had begun to sink in.

Someone, of course, will have to teach Barry the oldest trick of campaign rhetoric, which is never to lead with the negative if you are about to be quoted in a headline. Once he has learned this, such mistakes as the "Spiegel" interview won't happen. If Barry Goldwater had simply inverted his answer to the leading question about the Republican chances for victory, he would have been in the clear.

A wary Goldwater would have put it this way: "Sure, we'll make it a horse race by November. We may be behind now, but watch us catch up." The trick is easily mastered; all it consists of is putting that second sentence first.

Another thing about moving in to the big time relates to the sixth sense that tells a politician about audiences. Barry Goldwater has always been wonderful when talking to his own supporters. But he needs some training in the art of mollifying or confusing hostile critics or crowds. Fortunately, he is learning here, too. His action in printing up 4,000 copies of Scranton's insulting invitation to debate, and flinging them broadcast about San Francisco as evidence that other people can be both impulsive and immature, made much more sense than simply getting angry about some mean language. And when it turned out that Scranton had let his associates put out the letter without submitting it to him for editing, it permitted Barry to throw the old charge of "irresponsibility" in his opponent's face.

Of course, one can over-

do this business of giving advice to Goldwater. He has been doing all right without much counselling by outsiders. The way his campaign "peaked" at the right moment both in the California primary and at the convention could be attributed to luck. But as the Harvard philosopher Alfred North Whitehead once put it, fortune comes to those who are inwardly prepared for it. Goldwater is a symbol of a movement that has been gathering strength from social rivulets that began forming a long time ago, with the first reactions to the excesses of the New Deal. Southern California gave him his majority in the critical primary because of fifteen years of intellectual agitation. The conservative philosophy has taken some crude forms as it has percolated downward, but this is inevitable in anything that involves mass participation. The liberal philosophy as formulated by Franklin Roosevelt's Columbia University braintrusts and by poets such as Archibald MacLeish didn't sound so elegant when it came out as Harry Hopkins's "we'll tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect."

And as for John Birch Robert Welch being off his rocker for thinking Ike Eisenhower is a communist, is it any crazier than the Liberals' conviction that Nikita Khrushchev is a nice tame tabby cat? Republican keynoter Mark Hatfield, who attacked the Birchers, should have considered that one.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry is moving at a more sedate pace now after its big rush forward earlier in the year. The direction is still upward but signs of less urgency are beginning to appear.

The change is showing up in government statistics, and in the revision of past estimates.

Even the updated methods of tailoring the industrial production index to seasonal variations doesn't hide the slackened pace although it puts June output at a record, the ninth month of highs. The new methods tend to understate advances early in the year and pad out the figures for the summer, when industrial production normally relaxes.

But the revisions show that April and May production made much bigger advances than did June, even when seasonally adjusted. This isn't cause for alarm, since the direction is still upward. It's just something to watch if it sets a trend toward slower gains.

The May figures of the Federal Reserve Board's production index are now put at 131.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average, revised upward from the 130.3 per cent earlier announced for that month. The advance of May over April was eight-tenths of a point. The June figure under the new way of adjusting for the seasonal slack is 131.8 per cent, or a gain over the previous month of six-tenths of a point.

Businessmen also are watching figures that seem to show a slowdown in productivity gains that earlier sparked much of the increase in profits. Productivity is the amount of goods turned out per man hour of labor. Last year productivity was rising enough to more than offset increased labor costs. And profits rose smartly.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York, says in its July survey that "the very sharp rise in employment during the first half of the year hints that some slowdown of productivity gains may already have occurred. Expansion of GNP—the Gross National Product—in 1963—at a rate not much different from this year's first-half pace—was accomplished without nearly as fast a rise in the active work force."

If productivity gains slow down further, the bank foresees a time of "adverse cost, price, and profit developments—especially if wage increases accelerate simultaneously."

The Gross National Product figures also are being revised. The Department of Commerce has lowered last year's figures to $583.9 billion from the earlier estimate of $585.1 billion. For the final quarter of 1963 this total of the nation's output of goods and services has now been put at an annual rate of $599 billion, instead of the earlier $600.1 billion.

All of this estimate-changing is watched more closely just now than it might in other times because of the guessing game over how long the present upswing in the business cycle will last. It's in its 41st month—if you ignore a bubble late in 1962—and many experts are rooting for it to last well into 1965. The trend is still upward, even if the pace is a bit slower.

WHEN BOBBY FELLER, star Cleveland baseball hurler was in his prime, his fast ball whizzed over the plate so fast that even the best hitters were helpless. One very cloudy, gloomy afternoon, near the end of the season, the Yankees' Lefty Gomez, a notoriously inept hitter, appeared for his turn at bat against Bobby. As he stepped up to the plate, he took a match from his pocket, lit it, and held it above his head. The umpire, amused, joshed, "Do you think that's gonna help you see Feller's fast ball?" "Who wants to see his fast ball?" countered Gomez. "I just wanna be sure Feller sees ME!"

The telegraph editor of a Rocky Mountain daily was working hard to meet a deadline when an irate subscriber got him on the phone to demand, "Are you the wire editor? Then I want to complain about the fifth-rate wire you tie your newspaper bundles with!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Q: What is the menopause?

A: The term is derived from the Greek "menos" (month) and "pauein" (to cease). Menopause, commonly known as "change of life," is a normal process during which the regularity and character of menstruation slowly changes, and finally ceases.

Q: Do all women have a menopause?

A: Yes. However, the age at which it occurs varies markedly. Usually it begins in the early fifties.

It is interesting that the human female is the only member of the entire animal kingdom to undergo menopause.

Q: How does menopause occur? What causes it?

A: An egg (ovum) ripens each month in the ovary of the mature female. The ripened egg leaves the ovary and travels into the womb (uterus). If pregnancy does not occur, the swollen inner lining of the uterus, which was prepared to nurture a fertilized egg, is eliminated through the regular menstrual flow.

During the menopause, the ovaries cease to produce ripened eggs, so that the uterus no longer needs to form and discard an inner lining.

Q: How does one recognize the beginning of menopause?

A: This normal process has many variations. Most often the menstrual period undergoes a slow change in regularity and in duration. Sometimes it stops abruptly.

Q: What are hot flashes?

A: These are brief sensations of warmth and perspiration that suddenly and without reason occur in many women during menopause.

Q: Are there other symptoms?

A: Fatigue, restlessness, irritability, and even emotional upsets usually occur in varying degrees. This is due to a temporary hormone imbalance and to the fact that the entire body mechanism is in a state of change.

Tranquilizing medicines and hormones, individually chosen by a physician, now reduce to a minimum the discomfort of the menopause.

Q: Does the menopause make women less attractive or cause an excess gain of weight?

A: Absolutely not. The figure and attractiveness can even be enhanced when a mature adult grows gracefully into the menopause.

Q: Does the menopause alter or affect the sex life?

A: It definitely does not. There is no loss of physical attraction.

Q: Can pregnancy occur during menopause?

A: As long as the ovaries are still producing eggs, pregnancy can occur, even if the menstrual cycle is irregular.

The menopause is a healthy, normal physiological body process — not an illness. To avoid the unnecessary confusion and fears about the menopause, discuss all of its aspects with your own physician.

Do Things You're Afraid Of

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Newman who can earn up to a million dollars in a single movie, got a $7.50-a-week raise on Broadway the other day.

"It brought my take-home pay to $103.50," said Paul, celebrating over a can of beer in his dressing room.

He and his wife, Joanne Woodward, are appearing in a limited engagement in a new comedy by James Costigan, "Baby Want a Kiss."

The play was produced by the Actors Studio Theater, and Newman and Miss Woodward took their roles as a gesture of loyalty to the Actors Studio and the part it played in furthering their careers.

"We were fortunate we could take six months out of our lives to do this," said Paul.

The handsome, curly haired actor, who spent three years riding Navy torpedo planes as a radioman in World War II, seems to have taken the place of Clark Gable as a symbol of masculine virility to millions of feminine film goers.

And Paul has found that the price of being a Broadway matinee idol is that on matinee days the throng of fans waiting at the stage entrance keeps him a virtual prisoner in the theater until after the evening performance. He doesn't like mob scenes, or being pawed.

Opening his second can of beer, his ration between shows, Newman remarked:

"An actor feeds on the satisfaction that he has given people a creative experience."

Paul, who is built as trimly as a college quarterback, feels that the public unconsciously tends to think his screen roles reflect his own personality.

"Many get the idea I'm humorless, just because I play such intense, hard-driving physical characters. But I'm no Rock of Gibraltar."

A delegate to the Piano Technicians Guild convention in Chicago reports there are more than 10 million pianos in the U. S. that are out of tune. Now, there's a speech that certainly struck a discordant note!

Grandpappy Jenkins says he doesn't ordinarily mind summer replacements on TV but why, this year, do they all have to be political speech makers?

One of the British yachts which may challenge for the America's Cup is the Kurruwa V. With a puzzling name like that maybe it's a secret weapon!

Instead of burning worm-out, old banknotes as was done formerly, the government of South Africa now grinds 'em into a fine powder, then dumps 'em into the sewer. That's certainly turning big bills into small change!

On reading a mortician spokesman's statement that the public isn't interested in the cost of funerals, Milt, the sterling printer, says the fellow's dead wrong.

The funniest thing about most of those insect, fruit and vegetable jokes is that anybody should think they're funny.

"To me life is full of terror. Life is terrifying to anyone who has a conscience."

"But the only way to live is to try to overcome your own fears, by doing what you're afraid of. Anything that frightens you ought to challenge you."

Healing Wounds

Next year the flames of war between Great Britain and Nazi Germany will have been extinguished two decades. Twenty years is a long time to carry a hatred.

Yet, it appears, many Britons are still intensely antagonistic toward everything German. They protest the queen's proposed state visit to the West German Federal Republic next May.

It is a protest that can only open old wounds which were slowly healing.

That generation of Britons which met the odious military might of the Third Reich head on retains a vivid recollection of the war days. Memories cannot be discarded at will. Good and bad, they remain.

But, surely, it is how they are manifested in the ensuing years which measures the compassion and strength of human beings. A new free Germany has risen from the ashes of defeat, a Germany now united with the free world in a common cause against the ugly specter of international communism. And, with it, a whole new generation which was not born when British cities burned and Europe shuddered under the might of the German war machine.

Whatever good reasons Britons might have for hating Germany, Frenchmen and Americans can share them. Yet, President de Gaulle held out the hand of friendship to the new republic, and U. S. presidents have done likewise.

Through such state visits, one-time foes buried historical antagonisms under the realistic facade of a new age of cooperation.

Barry Hits Big Time

By John Chamberlain

Barry Goldwater is about to move into the big time — and the big question is whether he is ready for it. The Liberal opposition, of course, confidently expects him to put his foot in his mouth some time between now and November. And even some of his own most fervent supporters are uneasy about him.

The worries — or hopes, if you happen to be a liberal — on this score can be exaggerated. For the fact is that Barry Goldwater has been learning as he goes along. And it must not be forgotten that he has some good tutors.

One of them is ex-senator William F. Knowland, the Oakland Publisher who directed the crucial campaign that put Goldwater over in the California primary. In earlier primaries Goldwater had been stumbling in his relations with reporters; he was letting newsmen put to him the same old dreary litany of questions about repudiating the John Birch Society, or letting field commanders use atomic weapons, or scrapping the compulsory Social Security system. The effort to explain what he had already explained a hundred times over kept Goldwater from ever going on the offensive. Bill Knowland fixed that by telling him to make his own news by raising new issues before the stereotyped litany began. By the time the California campaign was over, the lesson had begun to sink in.

Someone, of course, will have to teach Barry the oldest trick of campaign rhetoric, which is never to lead with the negative if you are about to be quoted in a headline. Once he has learned this, such mistakes as the "Spiegel" interview won't happen. If Barry Goldwater had simply inverted his answer to the leading question about the Republican chances for victory, he would have been in the clear. A wary Goldwater would have put it this way: "Sure, we'll make it a horse race by November. We may be behind now, but watch us catch up." The trick is easily mastered; all it consists of is putting that second sentence first.

Another thing about moving in to the big time relates to the sixth sense that tells a politician about audiences. Barry Goldwater has always been wonderful when talking to his own supporters. But he needs some training in the art of mollifying or confusing hostile critics or crowds. Fortunately, he is learning here, too. His action in printing up 4,000 copies of Scranton's insulting invitation to debate, and flinging them broadcast about San Francisco as evidence that other people can be both impulsive and immature, made much more sense than simply getting angry about some mean language. And when it turned out that Scranton had let his associates put out the letter without submitting it to him for editing, it permitted Barry to throw the old charge of "irresponsibility" in his opponent's face.

Of course, one can over-

do this business of giving advice to Goldwater. He has been doing all right without much counselling by outsiders. The way his campaign "peaked" at the right moment both in the California primary and at the convention could be attributed to luck. But as the Harvard philosopher Alfred North Whitehead once put it, fortune comes to those who are inwardly prepared for it. Goldwater is a symbol of a movement that has been gathering strength from social rivulets that began forming a long time ago, with the first reactions to the excesses of the New Deal. Southern California gave him his majority in the critical primary because of fifteen years of intellectual agitation. The conservative philosophy has taken some crude forms as it has percolated downward, but this is inevitable in anything that involves mass participation. The liberal philosophy as formulated by Franklin Roosevelt's Columbia University braintrusts and by poets such as Archibald MacLeish didn't sound so elegant when it came out as Harry Hopkins's "we'll tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect."

And as for John Birch Robert Welch being off his rocker for thinking Ike Eisenhower is a communist, is it any crazier than the Liberals' conviction that Nikita Khrushchev is a nice tame tabby cat? Republican keynoter Mark Hatfield, who attacked the Birchers, should have considered that one.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry is moving at a more sedate pace now after its big rush forward earlier in the year. The direction is still upward but signs of less urgency are beginning to appear.

The change is showing up in government statistics, and in the revision of past estimates. Even the updated methods of tailoring the industrial production index to seasonal variations doesn't hide the slackened pace although it puts June output at a record, the ninth month of highs. The new methods tend to understate advances early in the year and pad out the figures for the summer, when industrial production normally relaxes.

But the revisions show that April and May production made much bigger advances than did June, even when seasonally adjusted. This isn't cause for alarm, since the direction is still upward. It's just something to watch if it sets a trend toward slower gains.

The May figures of the Federal Reserve Board's production index are now put at 131.8 percent of the 1957-59 average, revised upward from the 130.3 percent earlier announced for that month. The advance of May over April was eight-tenths of a point. The June figure under the new way of adjusting for the seasonal slack is 131.8 percent, or a gain over the previous month of six-tenths of a point.

Businessmen also are watching figures that seem to show a slowdown in productivity gains that earlier sparked much of the increase in profits. Productivity is the amount of goods turned out per man hour of labor. Last year productivity was rising enough to more than offset increased labor costs. And profits rose smartly.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York, says in its July survey that "the very sharp rise in employment during the first half of the year hints that some slowdown of productivity gains may already have occurred. Expansion of GNP—the Gross National Product—in 1963—at a rate not much different from this year's first-half pace—was accomplished without nearly as fast a rise in the active work force."

If productivity gains slow down further, the bank foresees a time of "adverse cost, price, and profit developments—especially if wage increases accelerate simultaneously."

The Gross National Product figures also are being revised. The Department of Commerce has lowered last year's figures to $583.9 billion from the earlier estimate of $585.1 billion. For the final quarter of 1963 this total of the nation's output of goods and services has now been put at an annual rate of $599 billion, instead of the earlier $600.1 billion.

All of this estimate-changing is watched more closely just now than it might in other times because of the guessing game over how long the present upswing in the business cycle will last. It's in its 41st month—if you ignore a bubble late in 1962—and many experts are rooting for it to last well into 1965. The trend is still upward, even if the pace is a bit slower.

Barry's Mom Remains Calm

89-Year-Old Lady 'Used' to Activity

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The mother of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater reacted calmly when her son received the Republican presidential nomination.

Said Mrs. Baron (Josephine) Goldwater: "I've gotten so used to this that it doesn't bother me."

Nonetheless, for three days and nights, the 89-year-old woman has sat in front of her television set watching the San Francisco convention intently.

"I've been very much interested in these activities," she said.

Once a pioneer Arizona nurse, Mrs. Goldwater has remained strong. She lives with a woman companion, Susan Armstrong, formerly of Chicago, but moves about her two-story Phoenix home with authority.

She likes to do things for herself. As she reached for a cigarette Wednesday, a visitor offered to light it for her.

"No thank you," she declared. "I do that myself. I'm strong as a man."

The nominee's mother weighs 95 pounds and is 5-feet-5. Her voice is strong.

"All my life, I lived in a two-story house. Those stairs don't bother me," she said.

She said she never expected her son to seek the presidency, "but that's all right. I want him to do whatever he wants to do."

Now that Goldwater has won the GOP nomination, his mother worries a little about the future.

"Well, of course, since he's running, he's going to be elected," she said. "But it's such a thankless job."

Eventual Merger Of Lutheran Seminaries Seen

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The board of directors of Wittenberg University's Hamma Divinity School has approved a plan which may lead to an eventual merger with the Evangelical Lutheran Theological Seminary in Columbus.

The action results from the master plan for seminaries for the Lutheran Church in America recently adopted by that denomination. Hamma officials were asked to explore the possibility of merger with the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago or with the Columbus seminary.

Dr. Carl Satre of Toledo, chairman of the Hamma board, said the board decided to pursue the Columbus merger because it believes the Lutheran Church needs and will continue to need a school of theology centrally located in Ohio and neighboring states.

Grim Poverty Engulfs Untouchables of India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A boy squats in the dust and taunts an ant with a stick. The ant races about frantically, and the lad smiles on his unwilling playmate.

This might be a glimpse of a child at play in the United States but the differences are sharp and clear.

The boy is dirty, sickly and the rags he wears leave his emaciated frame half-naked. He plays in a dusty narrow strip between two dilapidated buildings, smelly and littered with filth.

Home is a tattered tarpaulin stretched between the buildings. It's all he knows. Here he was born here he lives and, here or in some other squalid place he probably will die.

Born an untouchable, the lowest caste in India's social system, the boy's prospects of a brighter future are virtually nil. It takes all his father can make as a sweeper to keep the family alive. Money for an education is out of the question.

Even for this urchin things could have been worse. He could have fallen into the hands of professional beggars who would have maimed him in infancy to stir sympathy among alms givers. Such sights are not uncommon in this ancient civilization still struggling toward the industrial revolution.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's Socialist government is trying to better the lot of India's downtrodden, but what could any regime do right away, today, when 356 million of its 465 million people are illiterate, when five million of its citizens are utterly homeless?

The grim, grinding poverty engulfing India's masses makes

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "True science and true religion must always be in harmony. Truth is one; when ever conflict between science and religion appears, it is due to error in human judgment."

"Great prophets of religion and science have never denounced each other; yet those who worship the letter instead of the spirit have been opponents of progress in both fields. Their limited vision has blinded them to light from another quarter."

"The search for scientific truth is always backed by such spiritual qualities as love, single-heartedness, self-denial and devotion to the highest aims of life."

a stark impression because it is so inescapably widespread and tightly woven into the fabric of Indian life.

Bizarre contrasts result:

A destitute family lives in a ditch beneath the wall around a rich man's magnificent mosque. Gaunt men sweat to pull overloaded carts while shiny little cars weave in and out of traffic. Barefooted women workers at a construction site take bricks off a Western-built truck and balance a dozen on their heads as they walk to a wall going up. A well-fed Indian businessman shoos a stray bullock off the lawn of his comfortable cottage.

Electronic Vote-at-Home Seen Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—Electronics computers some day may enable voters to cast their ballots without leaving home, Board Chairman David Sarnoff of the Radio Corp. of America predicts.

Furthermore, he told a meeting at the World's Fair, business executives of the future may sit at home and conduct much of their work.

He said the computer's potential as a social force outweighs its present application in industry, government and technology.

Over the next 20 years, he said, "computers will touch off an explosion in the social sciences comparable to that which we witnessed during the past half century in the physical sciences."

Speaking at the national automation conference of the American Bankers Conference, Sarnoff said on the matter of voting that balloting could be done at home "through television, the computerized telephone and high-speed phone circuits of regional and national computers."

Within minutes after closing time, regional computers would forward their data to local, state and national computers and final results would be announced less than an hour after the polls close he said.

New Gun Law Passed

NEW YORK (AP) — A new city law makes it illegal to carry a rifle or shotgun in public unless it is unloaded and enclosed in a carrying case.

Faith's Challenge

There is something very special about a boy and his dog. The dog so obviously wants nothing more than to devote his life to his small master. He takes his boy on faith . . . and, inevitably, the boy lives up to it.

For faith creates a challenge. If someone believes something good of you, you find yourself eager to measure up to that standard.

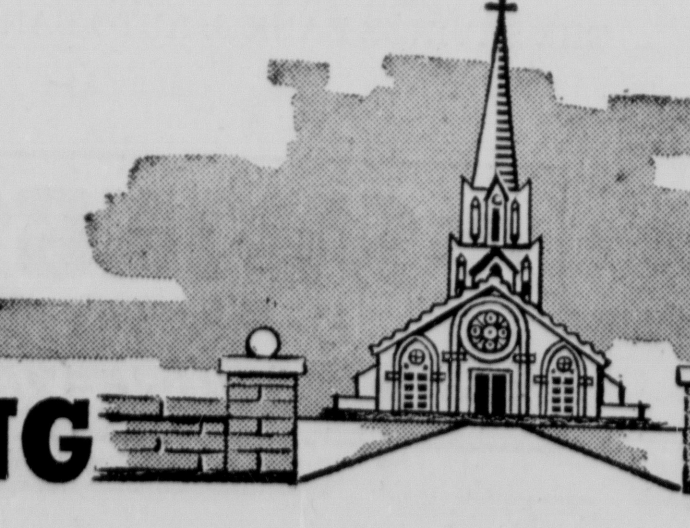

God looks for the best in all of us. Regardless of what may have happened yesterday we are, today, welcome in His Church. He has faith in us. Should we have less than faith in Him?

Barry's Mom Remains Calm

89-Year-Old Lady 'Used' to Activity

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The mother of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater reacted calmly when her son received the Republican presidential nomination.

Said Mrs. Baron (Josephine) Goldwater: "I've gotten so used to this that it doesn't bother me."

Nonetheless, for three days and nights, the 89-year-old woman has sat in front of her television set watching the San Francisco convention intently.

"I've been very much interested in these activities," she said.

Once a pioneer Arizona nurse, Mrs. Goldwater has remained strong. She lives with a woman companion, Susan Armstrong, formerly of Chicago, but moves about her two-story Phoenix home with authority.

She likes to do things for herself. As she reached for a cigarette Wednesday, a visitor offered to light it for her.

"No thank you," she declared. "I do that myself. I'm strong as a man."

The nominee's mother weighs 95 pounds and is 5-feet-5. Her voice is strong.

"All my life, I lived in a two-story house. Those stairs don't bother me," she said.

She said she never expected her son to seek the presidency, "but that's all right. I want him to do whatever he wants to do."

Now that Goldwater has won the GOP nomination, his mother worries a little about the future.

"Well, of course, since he's running, he's going to be elected," she said. "But it's such a thankless job."

World's Fair Offers Wonders Of Tomorrow

By ELEANOR ROSS

It's fun and frolic at the World's Fair. It's carnival for the light of heart and, for the science-oriented, it's a veritable classroom.

The various exhibits provide plenty of cause for patriotic pride. And the Fair is a bold, confident look into tomorrow.

Some of the prognostications and the exhibits appear to be absolutely fantastic, but we've all seen so much come true that seemed "far out" that it would appear foolish to rule out anything.

In the world of tomorrow, the home, especially the kitchen, is in for a dramatic and happy transformation, one that may well be underway within "three to five years" according to members of GAMA — the Gas Appliance Manufacturers of America. What we saw and admired in the beautiful, fanciful Festival of Gas Pavilion at the Fair, were not mockups but actual ready-for-the-factory prototypes, despite their futuristic, fantastic appearance and performance.

What stops most visitors cold is, first of all, a neat appliance the dish-maker. Fed sheets of thermoplastic, the appliance stamps out disposable or reusable — according to one's wishes — tumblers, cups, saucers and plates.

A real beauty, and entirely different from the refrigerator we know, is a circular, carousel-like, revolving beauty of a refrigerator that has dispensers for not only cold but hot beverages as well.

The circular refrigerator, which certainly doesn't have to stand in a corner, has not only a freezer but a section for aging meats.

Another wonder is the oven suspended overhead which, at the press of a button, descends to a job that includes broiling by a ceramic heating element, baking by infra-red radiant heat and roasting by hot air.

Then, it's work done, back to its overhead home, out of the way in the kitchen.

A delight to look at, and what we are sure will be a delight to use some day, is the range. This is a slim, table-like appliance that looks like anything but a range.

It can be disconnected rapidly from its wall gas outlet and wheeled away for use in another area — the patio, for instance or wherever a gas outlet has been installed.

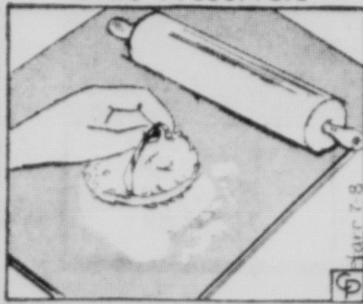

The cart-like range has eight ceramic heating elements covered by a sheet of opaque glass when not in use.

Another appliance, one that looks like an immense inverted, tapered drinking glass, is actually a home dry-cleaning appliance, for handling clothing and household items. Sweaters, blouses, coats and jackets are placed on hangers, sprayed with a special cleaning solvent and then gently dried by the concealed gas heat.

As shown, the appliance is attractive enough to be used in the home.

Well there they are, now on exhibition at the World's Fair, some of the appliances, that, in time, will be part of our home equipment, making the home even more desirable and functional, thanks to the enterprise of the American scientists and manufacturers who work in the field of fuel gas — another of America's natural resources — and appliances for its use.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

You Need Help, Honey!

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me? I want to be a virgin when I get married, but it's getting harder every day. I shoplift for kicks (have never been caught) and I also smoke and drink when I can get it. People say I look like a tramp, and I guess I do. All this is because my father is trying to run my life. He won't let me out after 6 P. M. unless he knows where I'm going with and how long I'll be gone. Even when I tell him the truth he says I'm lying. I'm sick of being watched like a criminal. I know I'm running with the wrong crowd but they are the only ones who understand me. I am overweight and my mother never lets me forget it. I break everything I touch because I'm so nervous. If you don't tell me where I can get some help soon, so help me, Abby, I'm going to find some high place to jump off of.

Newest Lounge Wear Needs Extra Care

By ELEANOR ROSS

The newest look in lounge wear is the airy flounce, the wide ruffle, the graceful capelet that goes over nightgowns or pajamas.

Fabrics float in such a manner as to create real news in silhouettes. This means that in order to retain their subtle "shapes," this season's housecoat, gowns, robes and culottes, must depend on frequent laundering, proper drying, and in some instances, skillful hand "pressing."

Limp, wrinkled fabrics promptly lose their winged prettiness. And certainly not the slightest touch of dirt is to be tolerated on these delicate fashions — most often found in the current color favorite, white.

Among the newest fabrics is Dacron — cotton dotted Swiss which lends itself well to self ruffling from neck to hem. Like the more familiar nylon tricots, it is washable by machine and requires little if any ironing.

Cotton eyelet is another favorite that depends upon the beauty of the fabric rather than trimming, and needs only easy washing-machine care.

Even the shift, in its newest versions, is more than a garment with two straight seams. It may be box pleated, done in linen-like rayon or, in airy cotton, it may be accented with a huge polka dot bow at the deep plunge neckline.

Even though they may never have to spend time on the ironing board, all of these loungers do need hand-shaping after laundering. While the fabric is still damp, finger-press ruffles so that they look lively and fluted when dry.

Return box pleats to their proper folds with a brisk shake of the garment, then renew creases by running finger and thumb firmly along the edges.

Smooth sashes and rows of ruching. Hang capelets carefully on padded hangers, so they will retain their bias or circular cut without sagging. Fluff up the big fabric bows, and puff the shirrings on sleeves and bodices.

While the automatic dryer can accomplish a certain amount of pressing, fine details must be done by hand.

So if a dryer is used, be sure to take the garments out of the machine before they are completely dry. Hang them carefully, then apply the finishing touches.

A garment which is best drip-dried should be "shaped" while wet so that the weight of the dripping water can pull it back to the original lines.

If a box of chocolates comes your way on a hot summer day, and you want to save it for later use, wrap it appropriately and put it in the freezer. It should stay in good condition for as long as six months!

Glistening White Frocks Are Featured

By SUSAN BARDEN

White is the outstanding fashion favorite this summer and Sue Brett has featured it prominently in her collection.

Miss Brett adds colorful touches with ribbon trim, smoke rings, scarves and handkerchiefs.

Synthetics, blends, piques and line-like fabrics were chosen for the outfits because of their easy washing propensities and their ability to dry in a short time.

All of these virtues are something which this designer felt were a great help in hot weather.

Pleats are getting a great play and are seen in straight falling skirts as well as in the box variety that give an A-line.

Tops are almost invariably sleeveless but they include such different silhouettes as the dropped waistline, the blouson, sissy shirtwaists, fitted bodices and jumpers with precision cuts that indicate ease of motion.

Goldwater Thanks Press for 'Fair' Tour Treatment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, praised the men who have reported and broadcast the Republican National Convention and thanked the reporters who have regularly covered his campaign.

He praised coverage of the convention at his first news conference as the nominee. Goldwater said television coverage of the convention has made it more inviting to sit at home and watch "with a cool piece of watermelon" than to be on hand in a steaming auditorium.

As Goldwater left, he stopped in a cluster of newsmen who have been covering his campaign from the start, and said, "I want to thank all of you for your fair treatment of me through all these seven months."

Good pickup: add a little sherry or brandy to ice-cold milk and dust the top with freshly-grated nutmeg.

Wigs Solve Many Summer Hair Problems

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

A wig is as easy to put on as a hat, and it does so much more for you, especially in summer when coiffure care's a problem.

Hair suffers from the seasonal effects of two things:

1. Weather — humidity leaves locks limp.

2. Sports — swimming, for example, washes out waves.

What to do? Don a curly wig and — zingo! — instant coiffure!

Does a wig add considerably to your beauty overhead? Not necessarily.

Dynel wigs, for example, are budget-priced — but they don't look it! What they do look like is the real thing!

Add to their assets the fact that they're lighter in weight, cooler to wear and easier to handle.

Dynel isn't absorbent as real hair is, so an occasional brush-ing keeps your wig clean for months. When it needs washing, massage warm suds carefully through it, rinse and then pin-curl or set on rollers, depending on the coiffure you're styling.

Dynel hairpieces are also available and they offer helpful camouflage for coiffures that need first aid, too.

A switch, for example, that's approximately 27 inches long can be worn in a variety of ways. Swirl it into a cluster of curls and wear it as a topknot. Pin it in place as a chignon. Wear it as a braid!

If your hairdo needs summer help, try on a wig or switch to a switch. Both work wonders quicker than you can say "coiffure."

World's Fair Offers Wonders Of Tomorrow

By ELEANOR ROSS

It's fun and frolic at the World's Fair. It's carnival for the light of heart and, for the science-oriented, it's a veritable classroom.

The various exhibits provide plenty of cause for patriotic pride. And the Fair is a bold, confident look into tomorrow.

Some of the prognostications and the exhibits appear to be absolutely fantastic, but we've all seen so much come true that seemed "far out" that it would appear foolish to rule out anything.

In the world of tomorrow, the home, especially the kitchen, is in for a dramatic and happy transformation, one that may well be underway within "three to five years" according to members of GAMA — the Gas Appliance Manufacturers of America. What we saw and admired in the beautiful, fanciful Festival of Gas Pavilion at the Fair, were not mockups but actual ready-for-the-factory prototypes, despite their futuristic, fantastic appearance and performance.

What stops most visitors cold is, first of all, a neat appliance the dish-maker. Fed sheets of thermoplastic, the appliance stamps out disposable or reusable — according to one's wishes — tumblers, cups, saucers and plates.

A real beauty, and entirely different from the refrigerator we know, is a circular, carousel-like, revolving beauty of a refrigerator that has dispensers for not only cold but hot beverages as well.

The circular refrigerator, which certainly doesn't have to stand in a corner, has not only a freezer but a section for aging meats.

Another wonder is the oven suspended overhead which, at the press of a button, descends to a job that includes broiling by a ceramic heating element, baking by infra-red radiant heat and roasting by hot air.

Then, it's work done, back to its overhead home, out of the way in the kitchen.

A delight to look at, and what we are sure will be a delight to use some day, is the range. This is a slim, table-like appliance that looks like anything but a range.

It can be disconnected rapidly from its wall gas outlet and wheeled away for use in another area — the patio, for instance or wherever a gas outlet has been installed.

The cart-like range has eight ceramic heating elements covered by a sheet of opaque glass when not in use.

Another appliance, one that looks like an immense inverted, tapered drinking glass, is actually a home dry-cleaning appliance, for handling clothing and household items. Sweaters, blouses, coats and jackets are placed on hangers, sprayed with a special cleaning solvent and then gently dried by the concealed gas heat.

As shown, the appliance is attractive enough to be used in the home.

Well there they are, now on exhibition at the World's Fair, some of the appliances that, in time, will be part of our home equipment, making the home even more desirable and functional, thanks to the enterprise of the American scientists and manufacturers who work in the field of fuel gas — another of America's natural resources — and appliances for its use.

Dear Abby:

You Need Help, Honey!

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me? I want to be a virgin when I get married, but it's getting harder every day. I shop-lift for kicks (have never been caught) and I also smoke and drink when I can get it. People say I look like a tramp, and I guess I do. All this is because my father is trying to run my life. He won't let me out after 6 P. M. unless he knows where I'm going with and how long I'll be gone. Even when I tell him the truth he says I'm lying. I'm sick of being watched like a criminal. I know I'm running with the wrong crowd but they are the only ones who understand me. I am overweight and my mother never lets me forget it. I break everything I touch because I'm so nervous. If you don't tell me where I can get some help soon, so help me, Abby, I'm going to find some high place to jump off of.

Newest Lounge Wear Needs Extra Care

By ELEANOR ROSS

The newest look in lounge wear is the airy flounce, the wide ruffle, the graceful capelet that goes over nightgowns or pajamas.

Fabrics float in such a manner as to create real news in silhouettes. This means that in order to retain their subtle "shapes," this season's housecoat, gowns, robes and culottes, must depend on frequent laundering, proper drying, and in some instances, skillful hand "pressing."

Limp, wrinkled fabrics promptly lose their winged prettiness. And certainly not the slightest touch of dirt is to be tolerated on these delicate fashions — most often found in the current color favorite, white.

Among the newest fabrics is Dacron — cotton dotted Swiss which lends itself well to self ruffling from neck to hem. Like the more familiar nylon tricots, it is washable by machine and requires little if any ironing.

Smooth sashes and rows of ruching. Hang capelets carefully on padded hangers, so they will retain their bias or circular cut without sagging. Fluff up the big fabric bows, and puff the shirrings on sleeves and bodices.

While the automatic dryer can accomplish a certain amount of pressing, fine details must be done by hand.

So if a dryer is used, be sure to take the garments out of the machine before they are completely dry. Hang them carefully, then apply the finishing touches.

A garment which is best drip-dried should be "shaped" while wet so that the weight of the dripping water can pull it back to the original lines.

Barry Outlines His Philosophy For Campaign

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, who was one of the most active opponents of the Arizona before his nomination, left the Cow Palace immediately after Goldwater's speech. He was followed by about half the New York delegation, setting off a stir of speculation that they were staging a protest walkout.

However, New York National Committeeman George Hinman said there was no such intention, and other New York Republicans said all that was involved was an effort to beat the traffic out of the Cow Palace area.

About as near as Goldwater came to the civil rights issue in his acceptance speech was his declaration: "We do not seek to live anyone's life for him—we seek only to secure his rights, guarantee him opportunity to strive, with government per-forming only those needed and constitutionally sanctioned tasks which cannot otherwise be performed."

Miller, who voted in the House for the civil rights bill which Goldwater opposed in the Senate, was expected to take some of the heat of this issue off the head of the ticket.

But Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro leader, described Goldwater's nomination as "disastrous." He urged voters to deny support to any Republican candidate who "does not publicly disassociate himself from Sen. Goldwater and his philosophy."

In Washington George Reedy, White House press secretary, commented on Goldwater's previous description of Johnson as "the biggest faker in the United States" and "the phoniest individual who ever came along." "I think that the American people have spent a good many years building up the status of the presidency, and I don't think we would want to contribute to the tearing down of the status of the presidency," Reedy said.

There was no White House comment on Goldwater's acceptance speech.

Goldwater avoided any personal attacks on the President in his speech winding up the convention. But he attacked the Johnson administration policies vigorously.

Declaring that Americans must renew freedom's vision, he declared: "During four futile years, the administration we shall replace has distorted and lost that vision."

"It has talked and talked and talked the words of freedom. But it has failed and failed and failed in the works of freedom."

"We have lost the brisk pace of diversity and the genius of individual creativity. We are plodding at a pace set by centralized planning, red tape, rules without responsibility and regimentation without recourse."

In the international field, Goldwater said that "during the Democratic years . . . we have weakly stumbled into conflict, timidly refusing to draw our own lines against aggression, deceitfully refusing to tell even our own people of our own full participation, and tragically letting our finest men die on battlefield unmarked by purpose, pride or the prospect of victory."

"We are at war in Viet Nam," he said, "yet the President who is commander in chief of our forces refuses to say whether or not victory is the objective. His secretary of defense continues

The papers necessary to return Sheppard to the prison arrived here about 7 p.m. but state officials could not locate a U.S. marshal to serve them and take Sheppard into custody.

After signing his $10,000 bond papers in the federal building here Thursday, Sheppard went to the motel and told newsmen he would remain there until a marshal arrived.

Sheppard steadfastly has contended that a bushy-haired intruder beat his pregnant wife to death on July 4, 1954. Although only months away from a possible parole, Sheppard now faces the risk of a retrial that could result in a first-degree murder conviction and a possible death sentence. Originally he was found guilty of second-degree murder in a two-month trial that ended Dec. 21, 1954.

Sheppard said Thursday his fiancée, Ariane Tebbenjohanns, and he had planned to fly to another state to be married immediately. However, he said these plans had been called off.

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns, a 34-year-old German divorcee arrived at the motel about 7 p.m. Fashionably attired in a white dress, the silver-blond left the engine in her car running as she dashed to Sheppard's room. The couple posed for photographs and went for a 20-minute swim in the motel pool.

Sheppard's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said he is confident that Sheppard will be released again by Monday or Tuesday. No site has been set for the hearing on the stay, which will be before a three-judge panel.

Sheppard, tanned and looking trim, left Ohio Penitentiary at 1:10 p.m. Thursday. As he signed his bail papers he breathed: "Finally!"

Then in a brief press conference he said prison life was "hell." He said he had tried to stay in good mental and physical condition and had continued his professional reading but . . .

"Until Lee Bailey and my fiancée came along, except for my family, I had lost my faith in humanity," adding, "I've lost the 10 best years of any man's life."

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns entered the Sheppard story in January 1963 when she said she had been corresponding with Sheppard and the two planned to marry when he was released.

If he is cleared in a retrial, Sheppard said he might join the Peace Corps or perhaps do clinic work in India. He also hinted he might stay in the Cleveland area.

But he said there had to be time for track workouts, fishing, hunting and for his 17-year-old son Chip. The youth was to have been best man at Sheppard wedding.

Sheppard startled newsmen at the motel when, in borrowed swimming trunks, he sported a perfect suntan. He quickly explained that he acquired the sun-baked look while directing outdoor recreation at the penitentiary. He also confided that he tried to stay in shape by doing 500 to 600 pushups each night with his cellmate.

A long fight still remains for Sheppard but his 10-year-old determination to prove his innocence has not lessened. He says: "I will fight anyone who says I'm not innocent until the day I die."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, who was one of the most active opponents of the Arizona before his nomination, left the Cow Palace immediately after Goldwater's speech. He was followed by about half the New York delegation, setting off a stir of speculation that they were staging a protest walkout. However, New York National Committeeman George Hinman said there was no such intention, and other New York Republicans said all that was involved was an effort to beat the traffic out of the Cow Palace area.

About as near as Goldwater came to the civil rights issue in his acceptance speech was his declaration: "We do not seek to live anyone's life for him—we seek only to secure his rights, guarantee him opportunity to strive, with government performing only those needed and constitutionally sanctioned tasks which cannot otherwise be performed."

Miller, who voted in the House for the civil rights bill which Goldwater opposed in the Senate, was expected to take some of the heat of this issue off the head of the ticket.

But Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro leader, described Goldwater's nomination as "disastrous." He urged voters to deny support to any Republican candidate who "does not publicly disassociate himself from Sen. Goldwater and his philosophy."

In Washington George Reedy, White House press secretary, commented on Goldwater's previous description of Johnson as "the biggest faker in the United States" and "the phoniest individual who ever came along." "I think that the American people have spent a good many years building up the status of the presidency, and I don't think we would want to contribute to the tearing down of the status of the presidency," Reedy said.

There was no White House comment on Goldwater's acceptance speech.

Goldwater avoided any personal attacks on the President in his speech winding up the convention. But he attacked the Johnson administration policies vigorously.

Declaring that Americans must renew freedom's vision, he declared: "During four futile years, the administration we shall replace has distorted and lost that vision."

"It has talked and talked and talked the words of freedom. But it has failed and failed and failed in the works of freedom. We have lost the brisk pace of diversity and the genius of individual creativity. We are plodding at a pace set by centralized planning, red tape, rules without responsibility and regimentation without recourse."

In the international field, Goldwater said that "during the Democratic years . . . we have weakly stumbled into conflict, timidly refusing to draw our own lines against aggression, deceitfully refusing to tell even our own people of our own full participation, and tragically letting our finest men die on battlefield unmarked by purpose, pride or the prospect of victory."

"We are at war in Viet Nam," he said, "yet the President who is commander in chief of our forces refuses to say whether or not victory is the objective. His secretary of defense continues to mislead and misinform the American people."

In introducing Goldwater to the convention, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said there were some who said "the polls are against us, the Communists are against us, President Johnson is strong and the Republicans are weak."

He drew cheers when he said Goldwater and Miller are going to prove in November that all of these are wrong.

The papers necessary to return Sheppard to the prison arrived here about 7 p.m. but state officials could not locate a U.S. marshal to serve them and take Sheppard into custody.

After signing his $10,000 bond papers in the federal building here Thursday, Sheppard went to the motel and told newsmen he would remain there until a marshal arrived.

Sheppard steadfastly has contended that a bushy-haired intruder beat his pregnant wife to death on July 4, 1954. Although only months away from a possible parole, Sheppard now faces the risk of a retrial that could result in a first-degree murder conviction and a possible death sentence. Originally he was found guilty of second-degree murder in a two-month trial that ended Dec. 21, 1954.

Sheppard said Thursday his fiancée, Ariane Tebbenjohanns, and he had planned to fly to another state to be married immediately. However, he said these plans had been called off.

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns, a 34-year-old German divorcee arrived at the motel about 7 p.m. Fashionably attired in a white dress, the silver-blond left the engine in her car running as she dashed to Sheppard's room. The couple posed for photographs and went for a 20-minute swim in the motel pool.

Sheppard's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said he is confident that Sheppard will be released again by Monday or Tuesday. No site has been set for the hearing on the stay, which will be before a three-judge panel.

Sheppard, tanned and looking trim, left Ohio Penitentiary at 1:10 p.m. Thursday. As he signed his bail papers he breathed: "Finally!"

Then in a brief press conference he said prison life was "hell." He said he had tried to stay in good mental and physical condition and had continued his professional reading but . . .

"Until Lee Bailey and my fiancée came along, except for my family, I had lost my faith in humanity," adding, "I've lost the 10 best years of any man's life."

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns entered the Sheppard story in January 1963 when she said she had been corresponding with Sheppard and the two planned to marry when he was released.

If he is cleared in a retrial, Sheppard said he might join the Peace Corps or perhaps do clinic work in India. He also hinted he might stay in the Cleveland area.

But he said there had to be time for track workouts, fishing, hunting and for his 17-year-old son Chip. The youth was to have been best man at Sheppard wedding.

Sheppard started newsmen at the motel when, in borrowed swimming trunks, he sported a perfect suntan. He quickly explained that he acquired the sunbaked look while directing outdoor recreation at the penitentiary. He also confided that he tried to stay in shape by doing 500 to 600 pushups each night with his kiltmate.

A long fight still remains for Sheppard but his 10-year-old determination to prove his innocence has not lessened. He says: "I will fight anyone who says I'm not innocent until the day I die."

Republican Veep Is Gut-Fighter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William Edward Miller, the Republican Party's candidate for vice president, is what politicians call a gut-fighter.

In the coming months, he can be counted on to approach the Democrats with a figurative baton in one hand and a baseball bat in the other.

"Pugnacious," "slam-bang," "rock-em-and-sock-em" are some of the terms writers have applied to this slim, dark, intense 50-year-old lawyer and congressman from the "Niagara Frontier" country.

He earned his political spurs as chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee — then won 22 more House seats in 1960—and for the last three years as chairman of the Republican National Committee. He has been a congressman for 14 years.

Here are some examples of the Miller style:

The day after he became national chairman in 1961, while President Kennedy was meeting Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Vienna, Miller said, "I can only hope and pray that it wasn't to negotiate some under-the-table deal in order to increase his prestige, which was lowered as a result of the Cuban incident."

In 1962 when the Senate defeated the administration's medical care for the aged bill, Miller accused Kennedy of putting on "a smoothly rehearsed crybaby performance."

Speaking of President Johnson at Dayton, Ohio, in April, Miller said: "There are only two businesses better off today than they were under the Republican party. That's the seat-belt business in Texas and the paint business in Washington to whitewash the investigations."

He was referring to President Johnson's driving habits around his Texas ranch, and to the investigation of Bobby Baker, who rose to power and influence while Lyndon Johnson was majority leader of the Senate.

As a Roman Catholic and a Northeasterner, Miller would balance the Republican ticket, as politicians say, meaning he provides a contrast to Sen. Barry Goldwater's Arizona origin and religious background. Goldwater's grandfather was a Jewish immigrant from Russia, and the senator is an Episcopalian.

Miller's fighting qualities were said to have loomed large in Goldwater's choice of him as a running mate.

Miller was born in Lockport, N.Y., close by Niagara Falls, for years kept a home at Olcott, N.Y., while in Congress. He had planned to retire from Congress this year and return to private law practice back home.

He is a graduate of Notre Dame and Albany (N.Y.) Law School.

He is married to the former Stephanie Wagner. They have four children.

Miller's credo is this: "I'm a Republican who loves his party."

Sensational Trial Replay Seen Possible

CLEVELAND (AP)—If Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard stands trial a second time, it will be a replay of one of the most sensational trials Cleveland has ever seen.

The "Sam Sheppard story," which received worldwide attention, started July 4, 1954, when J. Spencer Houk, then mayor of suburban Bay Village, received a 5:40 a.m. telephone call from his friend, Dr. Sheppard.

"My God, Spex, get over here quick," he quoted Dr. Sam as saying. "I think they've killed Marilyn."

When Houk arrived at the Sheppards' lakefront home that fateful morning in 1954, he found Dr. Sam clutching his neck in apparent pain.

Mrs. Sheppard's partly clad body lay in an upstairs bed brutally battered, with 35 wounds on the face and hands. The wounds later were determined to have been made with a semisharp instrument, but the weapon never was found.

The couple's son, Chip, then 7, was asleep in a nearby bedroom. The house was in disarray, and Dr. Sam told detectives of a struggle with a "bushy-haired" man. Dr. Sheppard said he was asleep on a downstairs couch when he was awakened by the intruder. He described a struggle and said he was knocked unconscious.

When he came to, Dr. Sam said, he chased the man outside to the beach and was beaten again.

His brothers, Drs. Richard A. and Stephen N. Sheppard, confined him to the family hospital in Bay Village for treatment of injuries, which they said included a fractured neck vertebra.

When police finally questioned him, Dr. Sam refused to take a lie detector test. Later he wanted one, but was refused.

He pleaded innocent at his arraignment Aug. 19, two days after the grand jury returned an indictment of first-degree murder. The trial opened Oct. 18 before the late Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin.

The late John J. Mahon, prosecuting attorney, charged the osteopath had beaten his wife to death in a quarrel over other women. He asserted the husband's injuries were self-inflicted.

Because of the publicity given the case the late William J. Corrigan, leader of the team of defense lawyers, called the trial a "Roman holiday" for the press and public.

On Dec. 22, the jury returned its verdict of guilty of second-degree murder. Dr. Sam, continuing to maintain his innocence, was sentenced to Ohio Penitentiary.

Veteran Marine Flier Is Killed in Crash

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A 20-year veteran of the Marines was killed Thursday night when his small plane crashed in a field near U. S. 40 near Etna.

The pilot, who was alone in the single-engine craft, was Dallas Warren, 38, of Rt. 3, Pataaskala, Warren, owner of several light planes, had recently retired from the Marines and had been flying for about 20 years.

The board said the requests from the federal government total $6,100,620 but "only about half" of the 31 applicants will receive federal money since Ohio's annual allocation in recent years has been about $3.4 million.

Goldwater Story

Friend Says Barry Does Everything Hard Way

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A friend once said of Barry Goldwater: "He does everything the hard way. In baseball he even batted crosshanded."

Politics didn't change Goldwater.

After his election to the Senate in 1952 it didn't take him long to raise the nation's blood pressure.

Walter Reuther president of the United Auto Workers Union, said publicly: "Goldwater is the nation's No. 1 political fanatic, labor baiter and peddler of class hatred."

A high ranking military commander once said privately: "Barry Goldwater may be the only man who can lead this nation out of the mess in which it is trapped."

Before he had completed his first Senate term, Goldwater had become the recognized leader of the conservative cause.

He is 6 feet, weighs an unchanging 185, has curly salt-and-pepper hair, a jutting jaw and an outdoorman's tan.

He has expensive tastes, as proven by his home atop a hill overlooking Phoenix, equipped with electronic gadgets.

Next to his desk is a VHF radio that provides weather reports. He can press a button and a movie screen rolls down from the ceiling of the study. His lawn-sprinkling system is electronically operated and the sound of a miniature waterfall in his garden is piped over his hi-fi system. One bathroom is papered with snapshots taken by the senator.

How was this man created? The past holds some answers.

His grandfather, Michael Goldwasser, one of 22 children, escaped the horrors of the ghettos and oppressive anti-Semitic laws of his native Konin, Poland, in 1848.

His travels carried him to Paris, to England, to New York and finally to the gold fields of California. He prospected the streams and the mountains until he opened a saloon, a venture that ultimately resulted in the Goldwater department store empire of Arizona. Big Mike believed anyone could be a success in the United States if he had guts and a willingness to work.

Barry Goldwater's mother came to Arizona from Illinois in 1909 at the age of 25 with a doctor's word still fresh in her mind: She had tuberculosis and only six months to live. At the age of 89, Josephine Goldwater watched her son nominated as Republican presidential candidate Wednesday night.

She often told her son: "Don't enter a race you can't win. If you lose don't tell me about it."

From the time Barry was a toddler, his mother took him with brother Bob and sister Carolyn to the U.S. Indian school some two miles from the old family home in Phoenix. They made the trip daily, in rain wind or scorching Arizona heat. They went to see the flag ceremonies. Barry would stand at attention as Old Glory slid down the flagpole and hold that position until the last strains of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Barry's uncle Mike, a Democrat and a political conservative, schooled his nephew in the ways of politics. And he told him repeatedly that if a man's belief in an issue was firm and honest, he should stay with it no matter what the odds, nor how heavy the criticism.

From the grandfather, the uncle and mother came the shaping of an Arizona senator.

On an April morning in 1957, Goldwater refused a luncheon invitation from President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Goldwater was putting the final touches on a speech blasting the GOP administration when the President called with the invitation.

Goldwater decided it wouldn't be fair to dine with the President, then blast him verbally on the senate floor.

That day Goldwater said, "It is disillusioning to see the Republican party plunging headlong into the same dismal state experienced by the traditional democratic principles of Jefferson and Jackson during the days of the New Deal and Fair Deal."

"To hear a president tell us, as Mr. Eisenhower told the Washington Conference of the Advertising Council, that we must educate Americans to a need for federal aid to domestic schools, welfare, and health programs astounds me. Mr. President, every item in the federal budget can, and must, be reduced."

From then, Barry Goldwater traveled his own route, a road of conservatism that steadily attracted new followers.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When "The Lucy Show" started in the summer of 1962 I started commuting between my home in Connecticut and Hollywood. I had been married just a short time and felt that with jet travel

I could span those 3,000 miles easily.

I would start leading a double life. I'd be Mrs. John Dodds, Connecticut housewife, on week-ends and Vivian Vance, actress, in Hollywood during the week. It has worked out just great.

The schedule goes like this: My husband drives me to New York's Kennedy Airport Sunday night or Monday morning, depending on the time I am due on the set at Desilu Studios. It takes about an hour from my farmhouse in Stamford to the airport. In 3 hours and 40 minutes, allowing for the time difference, I am at International Airport in Los Angeles, where my "Girl Friday," Renita Reachi, meets me and in no time I am at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

On Thursday nights, after "The Lucy Show" has been filmed before an audience, Renita drives me out to the airport, where I board the 11 p.m. jet and soon I am in New York. John, who is a literary agent meets me, and I start a wonderful weekend of keeping house, shopping in the village, cooking special dishes and entertaining our friends.

In the two years, I've picked up a few plane peevies. Recently my seat partner was a man who smoked cigars incessantly during the five-hour flight to New York. There seems to be a tendency in air travel to let passengers smoke whenever, wherever and as long as they wish. I'm going to write to the president of the airlines suggesting that a note be included in their regular pamphlet pointing out this discourtesy.

Most jet travelers are considerate, however. Most passengers recognize me, but they seldom speak to me. Sometimes before landing, I am asked for an autograph with the explanation that the seeker did not want to bother me because I was resting.

I have learned to travel light and to wear comfortable clothes. When I started, I was lugging travel bags, carrying a coat and even had our poodle in a crate. Now I literally travel in a paper bag, and wear loose garments. I keep two wardrobes, one at home and one in Hollywood.

I have learned to relax. As soon as I board I settle in my seat, close my eyes and before I know it, I'm dozing off to sleep.

Republican Veep Is Gut-Fighter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William Edward Miller, the Republican Party's candidate for vice president, is what politicians call a gut-fighter.

In the coming months, he can be counted on to approach the Democrats with a figurative baton in one hand and a baseball bat in the other.

"Pugnacious," "slam-bang," "rock-em-and-sock-em" are some of the terms writers have applied to this slim, dark, intense 50-year-old lawyer and congressman from the "Niagara Frontier" country.

He earned his political spurs as chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee — then won 22 more House seats in 1960 — and for the last three years as chairman of the Republican National Committee. He has been a congressman for 14 years.

Here are some examples of the Miller style:

The day after he became national chairman in 1961, while President Kennedy was meeting Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Vienna, Miller said, "I can only hope and pray that it wasn't to negotiate some under-the-table deal in order to increase his prestige, which was lowered as a result of the Cuban incident."

In 1962 when the Senate defeated the administration's medical care for the aged bill, Miller accused Kennedy of putting on "a smoothly rehearsed crybaby performance."

Speaking of President Johnson at Dayton, Ohio, in April, Miller said: "There are only two businesses better off today than they were under the Republican party. That's the seat-belt business in Texas and the paint business in Washington to whitewash the investigations."

He was referring to President Johnson's driving habits around his Texas ranch, and to the investigation of Bobby Baker, who rose to power and influence while Lyndon Johnson was majority leader of the Senate.

As a Roman Catholic and a Northeasterner, Miller would balance the Republican ticket, as politicians say, meaning he provides a contrast to Sen. Barry Goldwater's Arizona origin and religious background. Goldwater's grandfather was a Jewish immigrant from Russia, and the senator is an Episcopalian.

Miller's fighting qualities were said to have loomed large in Goldwater's choice of him as a running mate.

Miller was born in Lockport, N.Y., close by Niagara Falls, for years kept a home at Olcott, N.Y., while in Congress. He had planned to retire from Congress this year and return to private law practice back home.

He is a graduate of Notre Dame and Albany (N.Y.) Law School.

He is married to the former Stephanie Wagner. They have four children.

Miller's credo is this: "I'm a Republican who loves his party."

Sensational Trial Replay Seen Possible

CLEVELAND (AP)—If Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard stands trial a second time, it will be a replay of one of the most sensational trials Cleveland has ever seen.

The "Sam Sheppard story," which received worldwide attention, started July 4, 1954, when J. Spencer Houk, then mayor of suburban Bay Village, received a 5:40 a.m. telephone call from his friend, Dr. Sheppard.

"My God, Speck, get over here quick," he quoted Dr. Sam as saying. "I think they've killed Marilyn."

When Houk arrived at the Sheppards' lakefront home that morning in 1954, he found Dr. Sam clutching his neck in apparent pain.

Mrs. Sheppard's partly clad body lay in an upstairs bed brutally battered, with 35 wounds on the face and hands. The wounds later were determined to have been made with a semisharp instrument, but the weapon never was found.

The couple's son, Chip, then 7, was asleep in a nearby bedroom. The house was in disarray, and Dr. Sam told detectives of a struggle with a "bushy-haired" man. Dr. Sheppard said he was asleep on a downstairs couch when he was awakened by the intruder. He described a struggle and said he was knocked unconscious.

When he came to, Dr. Sam said, he chased the man outside to the beach and was beaten again.

His brothers, Drs. Richard A. and Stephen H. Sheppard, confined him to the family hospital in Bay Village for treatment of injuries, which they said included a fractured neck vertebra.

When police finally questioned him, Dr. Sam refused to take a lie detector test. Later he wanted one, but was refused.

He pleaded innocent at his arraignment Aug. 19, two days after the grand jury returned an indictment of first-degree murder. The trial opened Oct. 18 before the late Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin.

The late John J. Mahon, prosecuting attorney, charged the osteopath had beaten his wife to death in a quarrel over other women. He asserted the husband's injuries were self-inflicted.

Because of the publicity given the case the late William J. Corrigan, leader of the team of defense lawyers, called the trial a "Roman holiday" for the press and public.

On Dec. 22, the jury returned its verdict of guilty of second-degree murder. Dr. Sam, continuing to maintain his innocence, was sentenced to Ohio Penitentiary.

Veteran Marine Flier Is Killed in Crash

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A 20-year veteran of the Marines was killed Thursday night when his small plane crashed in a field near U. S. 40 near Etna.

The pilot, who was alone in the single-engine craft, was Dallas Warren, 38, of Rt. 3, Pataskala. Warren, owner of several light planes, had recently retired from the Marines and had been flying for about 20 years.

Goldwater Story

Friend Says Barry Does Everything Hard Way

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A friend once said of Barry Goldwater: "He does everything the hard way. In baseball he even batted crosshanded."

Politics didn't change Goldwater.

After his election to the Senate in 1952 it didn't take him long to raise the nation's blood pressure.

Walter Reuther president of the United Auto Workers Union, said publicly: "Goldwater is the nation's No. 1 political fanatic, labor baiter and peddler of class hatred."

A high ranking military commander once said privately: "Barry Goldwater may be the only man who can lead this nation out of the mess in which it is trapped."

Before he had completed his first Senate term, Goldwater had become the recognized leader of the conservative cause.

He is 6 feet, weighs an unchanging 185, has curly salt-and-pepper hair, a jutting jaw and an outdoorman's tan.

He has expensive tastes, as proven by his home atop a hill overlooking Phoenix, equipped with electronic gadgets.

Next to his desk is a VHF radio that provides weather reports. He can press a button and a movie screen rolls down from the ceiling of the study. His lawn-sprinkling system is electronically operated and the sound of a miniature waterfall in his garden is piped over his hi-fi system. One bathroom is papered with snapshots taken by the senator.

How was this man created? The past holds some answers.

His grandfather, Michael Goldwasser, one of 22 children, escaped the horrors of the ghettos and oppressive anti-Semitic laws of his native Konin, Poland, in 1848.

His travels carried him to Paris, to England, to New York and finally to the gold fields of California. He prospected the streams and the mountains until he opened a saloon, a venture that ultimately resulted in the Goldwater department store empire of Arizona. Big Mike believed anyone could be a success in the United States if he had guts and a willingness to work.

Barry Goldwater's mother came to Arizona from Illinois in 1909 at the age of 25 with a doctor's word still fresh in her mind: She had tuberculosis and only six months to live. At the age of 89, Josephine Goldwater watched her son nominated as Republican presidential candidate Wednesday night.

She often told her son: "Don't enter a race you can't win. If you lose don't tell me about it."

Accused Thief Is Stable Owner

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Mildred Wainscott, 44, charged in an embezzlement that police say totaled some $39,000, owns a stable of 20 riding horses she values at $20,000.

Mrs. Wainscott, a widow who lives in suburban North Randall, was comptroller at the A. S. Johnson Co., a construction firm, until auditors began discovering discrepancies in the accounts last April, police reported.

Mrs. Wainscott, who received a salary of $122 a week, was permitted to sign the company president's name to checks. Detectives said she has admitted taking $13,000.

U. S. citizens must obtain special permission and meet certain requirements, including a valid passport, to visit the Pacific Islands Trust Territories.

Win Posted By Kochheiser Over Bankers

Kochheiser Hardware, behind new found pitching ace Jeff Steele, won its third Babe Ruth minor game of the year by downing second place Savings Bank, 25-7.

Steele, a newly acquired member of the last place team, mowed down the tough Savings Bank lineup. He fanned 16 batters, walked seven and allowed seven hits.

Dana Grooms hit Savings Bank pitching for three doubles and a single, Steele hit twice and ended up on second both times. Pete Knox, Tom Rowland, John Stevenson and Phil Miller added doubles.

Robison fired the first three innings for the losers. He walked 11, allowed six hits and fanned two.

DAN PRITCHARD hurled the fourth inning, and allowed five hits. Bill Seum finished the game and fanned three, walked four and permitted two hits.

Robison, Seum and Roy Sark clubbed doubles for the losers.

Swim Team Loses Match To Delaware

The Circleville Swim Team hosted Delaware at Ted Lewis Park, and was defeated, 216-137, last night.

"There is no question about it," said Circleville Coach Jack Strapp. "Our weakness lies in depth. We gave Delaware a total of 56 points without opposition because we did not have the swimmers for seven different events."

Circleville Swimmers came up with nine first places in the meet: Mark Ralston in the 50-yard freestyle for boys 12 and under; Ann Guenther in the 50-yard backstroke for girls 12 and under; Mark Krieger in the 50-yard backstroke for boys 14 and under; Mike Merriman in the 100-yard backstroke for boys 17 and under; Brenda Anderson in the 50 yard butterfly for girls 14 and under; Kelly Leatherwood in the 50 - yard breaststroke for boys 12 and under; Debbie Shea in the 50-yard breaststroke for girls 14 and under; John Pharr in boys diving; Wanda Fyffe in girls diving.

Next event for the Circleville Swimmers will be Tuesday and Wednesday, when the teams 10 top swimmers will take part in the Junior Olympics at the Sunshine Pool in Columbus.

Tribe Hopes To Cool Off Hot Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, yet to beat New York in eight meetings this season, have a twofold task in their upcoming series with the champions—cool off a Yankee hot streak and pull out of a slump of their own.

The Bombers have won six of their last seven games and are only a half game behind American League-leading Baltimore. The Tribe has lost 15 of its last 19.

Cleveland will open its four-game series tonight with Pedro Ramos (4-6) pitching against either Roland Sheldon (2-1) or Stan Williams (1-1). The Indians made their best showing against the Yankees last Sunday, a rain-shortened 2-2 tie. Ramos and Williams were the principals.

Cleveland scored seven runs before anyone was out in the first inning against Kansas City Thursday, but had to come from behind for a 12-9 victory in 10 innings.

Tommy John gave up five runs to the A's in the first inning, and Gary Bell yielded three in the third. The Tribe won it with three runs in the 10th.

Cook, Ankrom Units Post Wins

Lewis Cook and Ankrom Lumber won Mosquito League contests yesterday.

The Insurance men edged Hill Implement, 12-11, scoring three runs in the final inning. Ankrom Lumber posted a 20-11 victory over Pickaway Dairy.

The Ankrom nine built a seven-run first inning into a lead the Dairy men could never overcome. In the bottom of the third frame, the losers closed the score to a two-run margin trailing, 11-9. It was the closest they ever got to the winners.

Charles Sistermen was the winning pitcher. He fanned five and aided his own cause by cracking three singles and scoring three runs.

JIM ROUTT shared mound duties for the winners. He was credited with a triple, a double and two singles in four turns at bat. He crossed the plate four times.

Mike Speakman belted a double and three singles for the winners while Chris Payne came up with a two-bag blow.

The longest hit for the losers came off the bat of Ricky Good, the Dairyman's right-fielder. He belted a triple and was also the leading scorer for the losers with three runs to his credit.

Lewis Cook once again had to go an extra inning — the second time this week.

The Insurance men took an early lead over the Hill Implement team, only to see the losers come on in late innings to knot the score, 9-9, at the end of regulation play.

In the seventh inning, the Hill team tallied two runs.

HOWEVER, Rex Riddle hit a double for the Cook nine, driving in two runs to tie the ball game. The winning run was walked in by Jeff Arledge, the losing pitcher.

The Cook team had lost a game to Mac's Goodyear earlier this week in the same fashion when the winning run was walked across the plate in the bottom of the seventh frame.

The winners collected 11 hits, with Gary Mogan slugging a four - bag blow, a double and a single. Rex Riddle also had three hits, one of them a double.

James Brown belted a double and a triple while Kirk Brown picked up a double.

For the losers, Tom Taylor hit a double and a triple and tallied three runs, Bill Sibbick belted a triple.

Starting for the Cook nine was Kirk Brown. He walked six, fanned eight and allowed three hits in three innings. He was relieved by Tim Mogan who was touched for two hits, while walking three and fanning six. James Brown finished the game. He walked one, and fanned two.

The Circleville American Legion baseball team will play Washington C. H. 9 a. m. tomorrow at the Veteran's Administration Hospital diamond.

Chet Iery, manager of the Hall Adkins nine, said all team members are to report to the National Guard Armory on Franklin St. at 7:30 a. m. If the local legion teams wins, they will play again 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Taylor went the first six innings for the Implement team. He walked five and fanned eight. Arledge walked five in the one inning he hurled and whiffed one, allowing one hit.

Ankrom's have a 2-9 mark for the season in the Mosquito League as does Pickaway Dairy. Both are in last place. Lewis Cook and Hill Implement have 4-7 records.

Bingman Tops Herald, 10-9

Bingman's Drugs won an exciting Little League major tilt last night when they downed The Herald, 10-9, in eight innings.

The Herald had a four-run lead in the second inning, before the winners could come up with their first tally. But after the first, Bingman's was hard to stop as they pushed across two in the third, one in the fourth, three in the fifth and one in the sixth, to amass an 8-4 lead.

The Herald, blanked for three innings, rallied for four counters in the top of the sixth to knot the score and throw the game into extra innings.

After both teams had made their pitching changes, neither team could score in the seventh inning. In the top of the eighth, The Herald managed a single counter and in the bottom of the frame, Bingman's scored twice.

MARION LONG was the starting Drugmen pitcher. He fanned five batters. Bill Barthelmas fired the two extra innings and was declared the winning pitcher. He fanned three batters. Between them, they allowed the losers 14 hits.

Long cracked a triple for the winners and Dick Radcliff managed a double.

Ron Stevens was the starting Herald pitcher. He allowed the only walk of the game and fanned nine batters. Tom Wickherham fired the two final frames and fanned three batters. Both boys allowed nine hits.

Billy Thomas poled three singles for the losing Hawks.

2nd National, Blue Ribbon Win LL Tilts

The Second National Bank extended its hold over the Red half of the Little League minors yesterday with a 24-9 win over the Savings Bank. Second place Blue Ribbon Dairy dropped First National Bank, 11-3.

Hunter Certain fired the win for the Second Bankers, walking eight batters, fanning two and allowing nine hits.

Mike Williams and Dave Sowers tagged homers for the winners, with Williams adding a triple and Sowers tagging two doubles and a single. Rick Metcalf banged a triple and John Payne carded a double.

Jerry Easter was the losing pitcher, walking 12, whiffing eight and allowing 17 hits.

MIKE HAMCRICK crashed a homerun and single for the losing nine. Van Griffey and Dennis Jackson hit a double.

The win leaves the Second Bank with a 7-2 mark, while the Savings Bank is 5-6.

Nichols Sets Hot Pace in PGA

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can't say that Gary Player isn't earning his keep over at Jack Nicklaus' house—and it's pretty steep keeping.

Player, who is Jack's house guest at the PGA golf tournament this week, paused between efforts to eat Nicklaus out of house and home, and gave his host a hint that straightened out his swing.

That's a little like adding an extra story to the Empire State building, or an extra steak on little Gary's plate.

But Jack says he can use all the help he can get this week. He's trying to defend his PGA championship before the home folk, and grab the last spot in the golf World Series.

Meanwhile, Player, known as the South African locust, is setting a grocery bill record, Arnold Palmer is dropping over at night and trouncing Nicklaus at snooker, and baby-faced Bobby Nichols is leading after the first round of the PGA with a record 64.

Nichols' round, achieved with the aid of a $5 putter he found on the back shelf in the pro shop in Anchorage, Ky., was also a record for the revamped 6,851-yard Columbus Country Club course.

Nichols, who comes from Louisville, went to Texas on a football scholarship and wound up playing golf instead, was sharper with his bargain basement putter than Palmer was with the snooker stick.

He finished with a three stroke edge on Nicklaus, who had his best opening round in a major championship all year with a 67. Mike Souchak also had 67.

Palmer had a menacing 68, along with five others including former British Open champion Bob Charles, the New Zealand left-hander, Billy Casper and Don January.

Ben Hogan, the 51-year-old two-time champion and all-time great had 70, even par, along with Player, and Tony Lema, the new British Open king, had 71. U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi was at 72, not out of it but needing to get moving.

Utility Man Gives Syracuse Victory

Columbus edged Jacksonville 3-2 in 11 innings and Atlanta beat Richmond 5-4 in 10 innings. Buffalo and Rochester were idle.

Trina Lee Wins

Trina Lee owned by Wayne Martin and driven by Jim Arledge, won her second race in as many starts at Northfield Park last night. She paced the mile in 2:05.

"TERRIBLE TEMPERED" TOMMY AND CADDY — Steve Helwagen (54) is the caddy for Tommy Bolt during the PGA tournament at the Columbus Country Club. Bolt fired a 74 in yesterday's opening round. Helwagen is one of 11 Pickaway Country Club youths serving as caddies at the event.

Dana Grooms hit Savings Bank pitching for three doubles and a single, Steele hit twice and ended up on second both times. Pete Knox, Tom Rowland, John Stevenson and Phil Miller added doubles.

Robison fired the first three innings for the losers. He walked 11, allowed six hits and fanned two.

DAN PRITCHARD hurled the fourth inning, and allowed five hits. Bill Seum finished the game and fanned three, walked four and permitted two hits.

Robison, Seum and Roy Sark clubbed doubles for the losers.

Swim Team Loses Match To Delaware

The Circleville Swim Team hosted Delaware at Ted Lewis Park, and was defeated, 216-137, last night.

"There is no question about it," said Circleville Coach Jack Strapp. "Our weakness lies in depth. We gave Delaware a total of 56 points without opposition because we did not have the swimmers for seven different events."

Circleville Swimmers came up with nine first places in the meet: Mark Ralston in the 50-yard freestyle for boys 12 and under; Ann Guenther in the 50-yard backstroke for girls 12 and under; Mark Krieger in the 50-yard backstroke for boys 14 and under; Mike Merriman in the 100 yard backstroke for boys 17 and under; Brenda Anderson in the 50 yard butterfly for girls 14 and under; Kelly Leathwood in the 50 - yard breaststroke for boys 12 and under; Debbie Shea in the 50-yard breaststroke for girls 14 and under; John Pharr in boys diving; Wanda Fyfe in girls diving.

Next event for the Circleville Swimmers will be Tuesday and Wednesday, when the teams 10 top swimmers will take part in the Junior Olympics at the Sunshine Pool in Columbus.

Tribe Hopes To Cool Off Hot Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, yet to beat New York in eight meetings this season, have a twofold task in their upcoming series with the champions—cool off a Yankee hot streak and pull out of a slump of their own.

The Bombers have won six of their last seven games and are only a half game behind American League-leading Baltimore. The Tribe has lost 15 of its last 19.

Cleveland will open its four-game series tonight with Pedro Ramos (4-6) pitching against either Roland Sheldon (2-1) or Stan Williams (1-1). The Indians made their best showing against the Yankees last Sunday, a rain-shortened 2-2 tie. Ramos and Williams were the principals.

Cleveland scored seven runs before anyone was out in the first inning against Kansas City Thursday, but had to come from behind for a 12-9 victory in 10 innings.

Tommy John gave up five runs to the A's in the first inning, and Gary Bell yielded three in the third. The Tribe won it with three runs in the 10th.

Cook, Ankrom Units Post Wins

Lewis Cook and Ankrom Lumber won Mosquito League contests yesterday.

The Insurancemen edged Hill Implement, 12-11, scoring three runs in the final inning. Ankrom Lumber posted a 20-11 victory over Pickaway Dairy.

The Ankrom nine built a seven-run first inning into a lead the Dairymen could never overcome. In the bottom of the third frame, the losers closed the score to a two-run margin trailing, 11-9. It was the closest they ever got to the winners.

Charles Sistermen was the winning pitcher. He fanned five and aided his own cause by cracking three singles and scoring three runs.

JIM ROUTT shared mound duties for the winners. He was credited with a triple, a double and two singles in four turns at bat. He crossed the plate four times.

Mike Speakman belted a double and three singles for the winners while Chris Payne came up with a two-bag blow.

The longest hit for the losers came off the bat of Ricky Good, the Dairyman's right-fielder. He belted a triple and was also the leading scorer for the losers with three runs to his credit.

Lewis Cook once again had to go an extra inning — the second time this week.

The Insurancemen took an early lead over the Hill Implement team, only to see the losers come on in late innings to knot the score, 9-9, at the end of regulation play.

In the seventh inning, the Hill team tallied two runs.

HOWEVER, Rex Riddle hit a double for the Cook nine, driving in two runs to tie the ball game. The winning run was walked in by Jeff Arledge, the losing pitcher.

The Cook team had lost a game to Mac's Goodyear earlier this week in the same fashion when the winning run was walked across the plate in the bottom of the seventh frame.

The winners collected 11 hits, with Gary Mogan slamming a four - bag blow, a double and a single. Rex Riddle also had three hits, one of them a double.

James Brown belted a double and a triple while Kirk Brown picked up a double.

For the losers, Tom Taylor hit a double and a triple and tallied three runs. Bill Sibbick belted a triple.

Starting for the Cook nine was Kirk Brown. He walked six, fanned eight and allowed three hits in three innings. He was relieved by Tim Mogan who was touched for two hits, while walking three and fanning six. James Brown finished the game. He walked one, and fanned two.

Bingman Tops Herald, 10-9

Bingman's Drugs won an exciting Little League major tilt last night when they downed The Herald, 10-9, in eight innings.

The Herald had a four-run lead in the second inning, before the winners could come up with their first tally. But after the first, Bingman's was hard to stop as they pushed across two in the third, one in the fourth, three in the fifth and one in the sixth, to amass an 8-4 lead.

The Herald, blanked for three innings, rallied for four counters in the top of the sixth to knot the score and throw the game into extra innings.

After both teams had made their pitching changes, neither team could score in the seventh inning. In the top of the eighth, The Herald maanged a single counter and in the bottom of the frame, Bingman's scored twice.

MARION LONG was the starting Drugmen pitcher. He fanned five batters. Bill Barthelmas fired the two extra innings and was declared the winning pitcher. He fanned three batters. Between them, they allowed the losers 14 hits.

Directors Eye Fund Drive For Program

Baseball Budget $5,608 for Current Operating Year

Circleville Youth Baseball program directors are conducting a solicitation drive of area merchants and businesses in an attempt to raise funds to fill the 1964 budget, it was announced today by Richard Bowers, chairman of the finance committee.

Bowers pointed out the baseball program is a constantly growing operation in Circleville, and requires more money each year to operate. The estimated cost for 1964 is $5,608.06.

Approximately half of the budget is collected in team sponsor fees which ranged from $80 to $250, according to league classification. Cost per boy participating is approximately $11. None of the financial burden of the program is paid by the participating youths.

"It is absolutely free," Bowers emphasized. "The boy brings his glove and shoes only. Everything else is furnished by the program."

The 20 directors, all 34 managers and the many assistant managers and scorekeepers donate their time and effort to ward making the program a success, he pointed out.

Bowers said any contribution to the program is deductible from income tax.

He has sent more than 100 letters to local business organizations. Many of these persons will be contacted personally.

The slogan for the youth baseball program is "Help build better boys for a better community."

Contributions may be made to the program by mailing a check directly to Bowers or to Robert Wood, treasurer of the program.

Club Shots

Sue Spires carded the low gross score yesterday in Ladies Day Activities at the Pickaway Country Club. Low net honors went to Aleece Stanton, while Stella Crist and Ruth Athey had low putts.

The golf clinic next Thursday will begin 8:30 a. m., it was announced.

Directors Eye Fund Drive For Program

Baseball Budget $5,608 for Current Operating Year

Circleville Youth Baseball program directors are conducting a solicitation drive of area merchants and businesses in an attempt to raise funds to fill the 1964 budget, it was announced today by Richard Bowers, chairman of the finance committee.

Bowers pointed out the baseball program is a constantly growing operation in Circleville, and requires more money each year to operate. The estimated cost for 1964 is $5,608.06.

Approximately half of the budget is collected in team sponsor fees which ranged from $80 to $250, according to league classification. Cost per boy participating is approximately $11. None of the financial burden of the program is paid by the participating youths.

"IT IS absolutely free," Bowers emphasized. "The boy brings his glove and shoes only. Everything else is furnished by the program."

The 20 directors, all 34 managers and the many assistant managers and scorekeepers donate their time and effort toward making the program a success, he pointed out.

Bowers said any contribution to the program is deductible from income tax.

He has sent more than 100 letters to local business organizations. Many of these persons will be contacted personally.

The slogan for the youth baseball program is "Help build better boys for a better community."

Contributions may be made to the program by mailing a check directly to Bowers or to Robert Wood, treasurer of the program.

Stolen Car Crashes; 2 Men Injured

Two Stoutsville area men, accused of stealing a car early today in Circleville, were severely injured when the auto crashed in Chillicothe when attempting to elude police there.

The car, owned by Richard W. Nothstine, Route 1, Ashville, was taken from the Second National Bank parking lot at approximately 12:20 a. m. today. The crash in Chillicothe was recorded at 3:32 a. m.

Taken to Chillicothe Hospital were Michael W. Sechler, 19, and Ralph F. Denny, 18. Circleville Police said both suffered numerous head and body injuries.

Local officers said Chillicothe Police pursued the stolen car after it was involved in a hit-skip accident of a minor nature in that city.

SGT. RODERICK List, handling the local investigation, said the Nothstine auto, a 1961 Chevrolet, was demolished in the crash. He said auto larceny charges have been filed against Denny and Schler.

He also noted that both men have records of previous convictions here.

MORE PARKING SPACE DUE — This large house (background) will be removed to make way for additional parking space at the lot between Main and Franklin Sts. The home, the old Kochheiser property on W. Franklin St., was purchased by the Circleville Parking Lot Corporation in 1962 for the purpose of eventually increasing facilities.

Parking Lot Corp. Maps Plans for Facility Increase

The Circleville Parking Lot Corporation this week mapped plans for increasing its facilities here.

Initial steps were taken toward removal of a house owned by the organization on W. Franklin St. for the eventual erection of more parking spaces. Corporation spokesmen said the move will permit more than 30 additional car spaces.

The house to be removed is the old Kochheiser property, adjacent to the organization's present lot, which was purchased in 1962 for the purpose of increasing facilities. Actual construction is expected to start by early September.

Plans to advertise for bids for removal of the house will be initiated within the next few days, corporation officials said. The bid deadline has been set for Aug. 1.

PAVING and installation of metered spaces is scheduled to get under way as soon as the house has been removed, and in accordance with weather conditions.

The Parking Lot Corporation was organized here in 1957 for the purpose of helping meet the demand for more parking space in Circleville. The group's effort eventually produced the present parking lot between Main and Franklin Sts. Efforts since then have been toward expansion as a means of keeping pace with community growth.

Business Briefs

At a recent stockholders and board of directors meeting of Cussin and Fearn Co., Inc., the following officers were elected:

B. L. West, chairman of the board; C. R. Wunderlich, president and general manager; E. F. McKee, vice president in charge of operations; P. A. Fiocella, secretary and treasurer; W. J. Cochran, vice president, in charge of leasing; E. H. Anderson, vice president in charge of sales; R. G. Leohmer, vice president and general merchandise manager.

Elected to the board of directors were B. C. Gamble, C. C. Raugust, B. F. Davidson, F. J. Wright, B. L. West, E. F. McKee, R. G. Leohmer, W. J. Cochran, E. H. Anderson and P. A. Fiocella.

Initial formation of the corporation was spearheaded by downtown merchants and the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

The present lot has about 66 parking spaces. Conversion of the former Kochheiser property will mean an increase of about 50 per cent.

Corporation officers have noted that the present off-street facility has proven itself as a self-sustaining operation. Meter receipts have shown an increase each year since the lot was constructed.

Officers of the corporation are: Paul Johnson, president; W. Joe Burns, vice president; Harry Clifton, treasurer; Charles Schieber, secretary; and Paul Brown, finance director.

The organization's structure calls for a total of 15 directors.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF NEW HOLLAND, OHIO, WAS OPENED ON MARCH 12, 1904 AND HAS BEEN SERVING THIS COMMUNITY CONTINUOUSLY FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS AS AN . . . INDEPENDENT, HOME-OWNED BANK!

Over the past year and a half, we have completely remodeled, rebuilt, and refurbished our bank with a new building, located in the rear, a new front, a new counter, additional storage and bookkeeping department and we have also increased the size of our vault.

We have installed new gas air conditioning and heating units, a night depository and have planned for a drive-in window when needed in the future. These added services and features are for the comfort and convenience of our employees and patrons, in modernizing for the future.

In the sixty years of operations, we have had only six presidents. S. Beatty, Al Hyde, Seymour Thomas, George Kirkpatrick, Herbert Louis, and our present president, Robert W. Kirkpatrick.

During the year of 1963, we enjoyed the most prosperous year of our operation and our statements of condition issued on March 3, 1964 showed our complete assets at $2,066,110.53.
